MEA slams Munir, says India will not give in to nuclear blackmail

Nuclear sabre-rattling is Pakistan's "stock-in-trade", the MEA said, in a strong response to the Pak Army Chief Asim Munir's nuclear threat. Munir, currently on a visit to the US, made the threat while addressing the Pakistani diaspora in Florida's Tampa. "We are a nuclear nation. If we think we are going down, we'll take half the world down with us," Munir said. The MEA said it is regrettable that these remarks were made from the soil of a friendly third country

HIGH DRAMA AS BIHAR SIR STIR SPILLS ON TO DELHI'S STREETS

Opposition members of Parliament barred from reaching the ECI office, briefly detained

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a day of high drama, the Opposition's protest against the ongoing voter roll revision in Bihar spilled onto the streets with the Delhi Police detaining several top leaders of INDIA bloc, including Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi, during their march to the Election Commission of India's (ECI) headquarters in the capital.

While the march led by Rahul began from Parliament House at noon, the MPs were stopped midway as the police had placed multiple barricades on Parliament Street to block them from moving forward.

While the police asked the MPs not to proceed further and made an announcement through a loudspeaker that they should send only 30 representatives forward, many MPs sat on the road and raised slogans against the alleged 'vote theft' and poll rigging.

In the melee, some MPs including SP chief Akhilesh Yadav, TMC's Mahua Moitra, Sagarika Ghose and the Congress' Sanjana Jatav and Jothimani, scaled the barricades raising slogans. The protesting MPs were later whisked away by police in buses to the Parliament Street police station. TMC's Moitra and Mitali Bag fainted while being detained. All of them were released after a brief detention.

Later speaking to the media, Rahul said the Opposition is protesting for the right to vote for every Indian and demanding a "clean and pure" voter list, asserting that the issue of alleged irregularities pointed out by him will 'explode' soon as it is not related to a single constituency but the whole country.

Indicating that he would not submit a signed affidavit as sought by the Election Commission, Rahul asserted that the data analysed by the Congress to provide proof of 'vote theft' was taken from the EC's website. "They cannot talk as the truth is before the entire nation. This fight is not political; it is aimed at saving the Constitution," said Rahul.

Meanwhile, a war of words broke out between the EC and Congress leader Jairam Ramesh, who said that he had written to the EC requesting a meeting to collectively hand over a memorandum. The ECI said Jairam had acknowledged its invitation for a meeting with 30 MPs but later "changed his tone". The EC rebutted Jairam's claim that he has urged the panel to allow Opposition MPs to collectively hand over a memorandum and not for just a delegation.

Rajanna sacked after his comments anger Cong

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ON the surface, it seemed like a routine resignation. But behind the calm façade of Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna's sudden exit from the Karnataka cabinet lies a web of controversy, high-stakes power struggles and whispers of betrayal that have set the state's political corridors abuzz.

The 74-year-old minister, a close confidant of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, part of the latter's core support group and a key face of ST community, resigned without warning on the first day of the legislature session. The timing couldn't have been more telling — or more suspicious.

K N Rajanna

Insiders suggest that the tipping point was a seemingly offhand comment — but one that rattled Congress from Bengaluru to Delhi. A few days ago, Rajanna had said that the controversial voter list in the Mahadevapura Assembly constituency, part of the Bangalore Central Parliamentary segment -- which is central to the Congress' "vote theft" offensive against BJP, had been prepared during the Congress rule. This gave an impression that Congress too did not do anything on the very issue that the party is fighting against.

For the Congress High Command, it was heresy. For Siddaramaiah, who was Rajanna's political ally since the Janata Parivar era, it was an embarrassment too large to contain.

But even before Rajanna sent in his resignation, the Chief Minister's Office had forwarded its recommendation for his ouster to the Raj Bhavan. A communique from the governor's office sealed his fate and he was removed from the council of ministers with immediate effect. The message was clear: This wasn't a resignation, it was a purge. CONTINUED ON P4

US trade talks on track; India draws red lines

PUSHPITA DEY & JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AMID growing uncertainty over the future of trade negotiations with the US, this newspaper has learnt that the visit of the US delegation in the last week of August is on schedule. "There has been no change in the plans of the US delegation visit to India as scheduled on August 24," confirmed two persons from the Ministry of Commerce.

There was speculation about the fate of trade talks after US president Donald Trump recently ruled out talks with India till the tariff issue is resolved.

"There has been no communication from the US so far (regarding the cancellation). Their visit is scheduled on August 24 and the meeting has been scheduled in the third week of August," said an official.

The next round of negotiations is to take place in Delhi on August 25—just before an additional 25% tariff on India kicks in, apart from the existing 25% levy.

A query sent to the US Trade Representative remained unanswered till the time of filing this report.

Meanwhile, the government on Monday told members of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on External Affairs that India has certain 'red lines' that can't be crossed in the negotiations with the US. Senior officials, including Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri and Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal, briefed the panel.

Sources said the government asserted its uncompromising stance on core sectors, especially agriculture and dairy, while outlining a strategy to cushion the economic blow through export diversification.

"Red lines were clearly flagged," a source said, "particularly against the US demand to open India's agri and dairy sectors. There will be no compromise on these."

Focus on 50 countries to boost exports

The Centre is working on measures to boost India's exports, including targeting 50 countries, an official said on Monday. The 50 countries account for 90% of India's exports.

Upper castes tie ST youth to tree, beat him up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

A Scheduled Tribe (ST) youth was tied to a tree and beaten up, while another was assaulted at his home reportedly by upper caste people for allegedly teasing a minor girl at Godachi village of Ramdurg taluk in Belagavi district. The incident occurred on August 5, but came to light only now.

The victims, Iranna Vitthal Naikar (18) and Lakshman Mallappa Chipallkatti (18), are both residents of Godachi. The first few days after the incident, the victims or their families did not file a police complaint and took up the matter up before village elders. But when a video of the incident went viral, the police asked them to file the complaint. An FIR was registered at the Katkol police station on August 8.

The FIR named seven persons -- Iranna Pakanatti, Basangouda Patil, Pradeep Pakanatti, Mahantesh Pakanatti, Sachin Pakanatti, Ningaraj Pakanatti, and Sangappa Pakanatti. The police arrested Iranna, Sachin and Mahantesh, while the search is on for the remaining accused.

The minor girl's family too filed a counter-complaint on the same day (August 8) against the two victims, accusing them of teasing her. Both cases are now under investigation. After the assault, Iranna and Lakshman were treated at a local hospital and discharged.

Hackers drain ₹47cr from B'luru fin firm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CYBER fraudsters allegedly siphoned off a whopping Rs 47 crore after hacking into the bank accounts of a Bengaluru-based finance company, located on Outer Ring Road in Marathahalli.

The complaint filed by the senior manager, Prakash M of Whizdm Finance Pvt Ltd, on Sunday stated that during the company's manual reconciliation process on August 7, several irregular and suspicious fund transfers were detected to certain bank accounts on August 6 and 7 without authorisation. The company immediately instructed the two private banks concerned to freeze debit transactions on those accounts. An internal investigation revealed that the transfers did not originate from within the company or its whitelisted IP addresses. The IP addresses involved were traced to locations outside India. Approximately Rs 47 crore was illegally transferred, the FIR stated. The details of the beneficiary accounts have been obtained.

A case has been registered under various Sections of the IT Act and Section 318 (4) (cheating) and 319(2) (cheating by personation) of the BNS. Efforts are under way to trace their locations and identify the culprits.

SC orders Delhi-NCR purge of all stray dogs in eight weeks

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday directed the Delhi government and the civic authorities of Delhi-NCR to round up all stray dogs at the earliest and put them in dog shelters to be set up by the civic authorities of Gurugram, Noida and Ghaziabad within eight weeks.

The ruling by a bench of justices J B Pardiwala and R Mahadevan came on a suo motu case initiated by it over the spike in incidents of dog bites leading to rabies. The bench also directed that the dog shelters should have sufficient personnel to sterilise and immunise the dogs, aside from looking after them. The centres would be under CCTV surveillance to ensure the dog remains in the facility, the court added. The bench held that the situation is so grim there is no room for sentiments. It warned of strict action against individuals and organisations in case of obstruction, which might also prompt the court to initiate contempt proceedings.

The court had initiated suo motu proceedings on July 28 following media reports highlighting the tragic death of a six-year-old girl in Delhi due to rabies following a dog bite.

The bench posted the matter for hearing after six weeks and asked the authorities to file a status report.

Flagging demand, Hubballi flag unit stares at 75% dip in profits

Just a handfull of women work at the flag manufacturing centre in Bengeri | DHEMANTH

AMIT S UPADHYE @Hubballi

COME August, the only BIS-certified khadi Tricolour manufacturing centre in the country, based in Hubballi, would be bustling with women employees stitching national flags throughout the day. But this year, the unit is wearing a deserted look and the number of workers too has reduced, despite it being the peak season ahead of Independence Day.

The Karnataka Khadi Gramodyoga Samyukta Sangh of Bengeri in Hubballi, which runs the flag unit, is staring at a 75% depletion in its profits this year. Ahead of Independence Day, the Sangh used to earn around Rs 2.7 crore, but with four days to go for the big day, it has received orders worth only Rs 49 lakh.

The Sangh has been staring at losses ever since the central government allowed polyester flags to be flown as part of the 75th year Independence Day. The move immensely helped polyester companies from Gujarat which have captured the market and are making big profits over the last two years.

As the central government's also amended the national flag code, many government buildings and institutes too have started flying polyester flags, shunning khadi flags, which are priced higher. Though khadi flags have a longer life, they are losing demand swiftly. P5

Passengers wait to board a Metro train at the RV Road Metro interchange station during the inaugural run of Yellow Line operations on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

YELLOW LINE MAIDEN RUN A BIG HIT WITH COMMUTERS

INDRA S @Bengaluru

ENDING an eight-year wait, Namma Metro's Yellow Line opened to the public on Monday. The 19.15-km stretch connects RV Road to Bommasandra and began commercial operations with three trains running at a frequency of 25 minutes. End-to-end travel takes 32 to 35 minutes.

On its first day, the line served thousands of students, IT professionals, garment workers and factory employees among others. Many welcomed the chance to ditch private vehicles and avoid the infamous Central Silk Board traffic, saying the saved time would improve their quality of life and productivity.

TNIE took a ride on the new line to interact with commuters on its first day of operations. "With our child, travelling to the Central Silk Board is much easier on the Metro," said Shekhar, who was accompanied by his wife and child. "The fare is far less compared to the Rs 300 we usually pay for an auto, and we don't mind waiting 25 minutes for the train as it is easier and far more comfortable."

"Normally, I'd take a bus and then an auto to reach Chickpete from Bommasandra, and it would take more than two hours," said Lavanya, a resident of Bommasandra. "Now, with the Metro, I can get there in under an hour, it's a game-changer for connectivity."

Harini, an IT employee said, "The Yellow Line has reduced my commute from Banashankari to my office near Jayadeva Hospital from over an hour to just 10 minutes. It's a great initiative that's helping IT professionals and residents near Electronics City."

The RV Road Metro station is now the second interchange after Nadaprabhu Kempegowda station, linking the Green and Yellow lines. The line also features India's tallest Metro station at Jayadeva Hospital, standing at 39 metres.

However, a few passengers complained about the lack of seating arrangements in the RV Road station, raised concerns regarding the small platform space compared to other Metro stations and urged installation of steel barricades or platform screen doors (PSD) for safety of the commuters. Metro feeder buses to enhance first- and last-mile connectivity will be inaugurated by Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy on Tuesday.

Narayana Health launched a public health campaign along the Yellow Line, turning Metro pillars into vibrant murals promoting hygiene, nutrition, vaccination and mental wellbeing.

Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya takes a ride in a Metro train on the newly opened Yellow Line on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Tejasvi slams delays, ballooning costs of Metro's Pink Line

INDRA S @Bengaluru

A day after the launch of Namma Metro's Yellow Line, Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya hit out at the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) over the delay and escalating costs of the Pink Line. Speaking to TNIE onboard a train on the Yellow Line on Monday, Surya said the elevated stretch from Kalena Agrahara to Tavarekere, earlier set for opening in September 2025, will now be ready only by March 2026. The underground section from Dairy Circle to Nagavara, originally targeted for opening on June 2026, is now slated for September 2026.

Surya expressed frustration over BMRCL's repeated delays and ballooning costs, citing examples from previous phases. Phase 1's budget rose from Rs 6,300 crore in 2005 to Rs 14,000 crore, and Phase 2's from Rs 26,000 crore in 2014 to Rs 40,000 crore in 2024, he said, calling it an undue burden on taxpayers despite high demand for Metro connectivity.

The Union Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA) on Sunday confirmed the new timelines and revealed that the proposed Phase 3A corridor (Red line) — 36.58 km from Sarjapur to Hebbal, costing Rs 28,405 crore — has had its Detailed Project Report (DPR) returned to the state for cost review under benchmarking guidelines. The ministry urged the state to expedite the process and prepare a long-term Metro master plan for Bengaluru.

Surya also flagged the need to increase Metro train frequency, especially on the Yellow Line, with more train sets expected by year-end. He said, "I spoke to the MD of Titagarh Rail Systems (the company which is manufacturing and supplying train sets) and he says that from October two trains will be available per month and by the end of August, the fourth train will also be added."

SEP recommends sex education, RTE expansion

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE State Education Policy (SEP) has recommended the introduction of "comprehensive sex education" among the programmes designed for pre-university students (Classes 11 and 12) apart from a Comprehensive Curriculum for School Education.

The curriculum regarding sex education would go beyond basic reproductive biology to cover topics such as emotional well-being, consent, gender sensitivity, prevention of abuse, and ways to address the changes occurring due to hormonal changes, The New Indian Express learnt through multiple sources.

Explaining why the commission recommends it at PU level and not at Class 9-10 level, SEP members argued that younger students may lack the emotional maturity to fully grasp and contextualise the subject. Introducing it earlier, they said, would not be "grade-appropriate" and could lead to misunderstanding or misuse of the information.

SEP members said their recommendation also draws from the rising number of cases registered under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, which reflect that many adolescents face assault and abuse without adequate understanding of consent and decision-making. They, however, believe this knowledge should be provided when students are at a "right age" and better equipped to process it.

Earlier this year, the State Government had proposed making sex education mandatory for students from Classes 8 to 12, with two sessions a week.

CORE IDEA IS TO EXPAND RTE COVERAGE

Among the core recommendations, the commission has proposed expanding the coverage of the Right to Education (RTE) Act to include children aged 4 to 18 in a phased manner. If implemented, Karnataka would become the first state in the country to offer free and compulsory education, as mandated under the RTE, from pre-primary or kindergarten right through to higher secondary school.

The plan was first announced in the Legislative Council at the Belagavi session in December 2024 by Minister for School Education and Literacy Madhu Bangarappa. Six months later, the minister had directed his department to prepare for its rollout, though, to avoid controversy, it was referred to as "adolescent education."

On the proposed Comprehensive Curriculum for School Education, the commission said the current quality of textbooks falls short of the standards they expect students to meet, and that the reform aims to improve the overall quality of education. They said that they have also recommended the inclusion of content that reflects the socio-cultural context of Karnataka, which the commission believes should be integrated into the curriculum.

Ease of doing biz cell launched

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a bid to support the state's growing network of Global Capability Centers (GCCs), Minister for IT/BT and Electronics Priyank Kharge launched KATALYST, an Ease of Doing Business (EoDB) cell on Monday. The initiative, aligned with the state's GCC Policy 2024-29, will serve as a single-window platform to streamline new investments and fast-track approvals.

The announcement came on Monday during a CEO Breakfast Meet hosted by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, which brought together over 200 industry leaders from various sectors, ahead of the Bengaluru Tech Summit (BTS), scheduled for November 18-20.

Siddaramaiah said Karnataka remains India's largest software-exporting state, contributing 44% of the country's software exports and the government's goal is to add 500 more GCCs by 2029, creating 3.5 lakh jobs and generating $50 billion in economic output. He added that new tech clusters will be developed outside Bengaluru to ensure balanced growth.

Outlining Karnataka's vision, the CM said, "We want the state to be the place where the world comes to solve its biggest challenges - whether it is curing diseases, developing sustainable energy solutions, or building computers of the future. We will provide the talent, infrastructure, and policy support."

Shivakumar said the upcoming BTS-2025 should send a strong message to the world about the city's global standing in the IT sector. He highlighted Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent visit to inaugurate the Namma Metro Yellow Line, noting that the PM had acknowledged Bengaluru's status as a "global city". He credited former CM SM Krishna's IT policy for laying the foundation for this growth.

Appealing to companies, Shivakumar urged them to direct their CSR funds towards developing government schools in rural areas. "Don't give us money, build the schools directly. If you give us money, you will have to pay 18% tax on it," he said. With 50,000 government teacher posts vacant, Shivakumar said private schools are being encouraged to take responsibility for rural institutions.

During the event, Kharge unveiled plans for the 28th edition of BTS and said that the event, themed around "Futurise", will bring together over one lakh attendees from more than 60 countries.

Students stage a protest at Freedom Park on Monday | EXPRESS

Fill 2.8L posts in 20 depts, students urge govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE All Karnataka State Student Association (AKSSA) staged a protest at Freedom Park on Monday, urging the state government to immediately fill 2,76,386 vacant posts in 20 departments, including 70,727 teacher positions.

The protesters said the delay in recruitment was crippling administrative efficiency and disrupting essential services such as education, public health, rural development and social justice programmes.

The association demanded the publication of an annual recruitment calendar on the UPSC model to ensure timely notification, examination and appointment processes. They opposed the suspension of recruitment midway and called for the maximum age limit for government jobs to be raised to 35 years, while retaining the existing relaxations for women, SC, ST and OBC candidates. They also asked the government to remove application fees for women, SC and ST candidates, and to collect the fees only from OBC and General category applicants. The protesters urged the government to quickly recruit teachers for all levels of education — from primary and secondary schools to pre-university and undergraduate colleges.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

12TH August : In my opinion, current planetary movements inaugurate a period which favours visionaries, romantics and creative geniuses. Sure, we can't entirely escape our responsibilities, but the world may smile on people who put personal expression first, and work, business and practical chores second!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should wake up with a spring in your step - hopefully. This may be an emotional day, but it could also be a positive one. The feelings to emphasise today are those thoroughly saintly qualities of compassion and sympathy for the under-dog which do you such credit.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You might be a little secretive today - and why not! It may be that other people are not ready to hear what you have to say, or even that you yourself do not yet fully understand your deeper feelings. In that case, you have all the more reason to delay.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Teamwork will serve you best. If you must press on alone, it may be that financial pressures are paramount, or that money is just generally on your mind. Your attitudes are likely to be somewhat conservative and tied to the past, but there is nothing wrong with that!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
It's a special time of year - again! This doesn't mean that everything will be easy, but it will be positive, which is an entirely different matter. Events of importance are lining up. All you have to do is make sure you have the skills and experience to make the most of them.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Bear in mind that very soon you will be under powerful pressure to come clean. It may be that you have nothing to hide but, in any event, you should be as honest as possible, and that means being straight with yourself as well as with others. Choose your words with care.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You are known to be cautious in money matters, but you can be surprisingly assertive when it comes to joint finances. This is one such time, and you should make it clear that your desires must be respected. You might be surprised how willingly others do your bidding if you ask in the right way!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Listen carefully and pay great attention to partners' feelings. If there is to be any emotional friction today, early morning and mid-afternoon are the likely moments, which means that around these times you should be especially diplomatic. Spread a little goodwill and you'll earn respect.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There are some indications that this should be a busy day, but not overwhelmingly so. While you will have your fair share of chores, there could also be opportunities to duck and dive and generally opt out of unwanted commitments should you wish! Just make sure that you don't let anyone down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The times are looking positive, although finance is one area where you could feel uncomfortable. To be precise, it's joint monetary matters which could be irritating, and you may easily come to resent domestic costs. Ultimately, it's your status which is more important than your bank balance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If there is any question about your priorities, family matters should come first. Even at work, you will do best if your profession in some way concerns the home, domestic matters or family relationships. In love, stand back and let others set the pace.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You must accept whatever boundaries or restraints are necessary to enhance your aims, and not create any sort of rumpus, especially where joint agreements are concerned. Your major goal now should be to build up your long-term security - no questions asked!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's hard cash which holds the key to your current ambitions. In all matters, especially financial, it's a moment to be assertive. This doesn't mean being aggressive or selfish, but it does mean standing up for yourself - and seeing that your interests are respected.

With Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHA) set to stage a three-day, day-and-night protest across district headquarters from August 12-14, the Health Department on Monday issued clear instructions to ensure that public health services are not disrupted. The department directed district health officers to persuade workers not to participate in the strike, collect and submit daily reports on absenteeism during the protest

DHARMASTHALA CASE

SIT to deploy ground penetrating radar for two hours at Site No. 13

DIVYA CUTINHO @Mangaluru

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT), investigating the Dharmasthala mass burial case, will search for any possible human remains at the alleged burial Site No. 13 by deploying Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR).

The SIT conducted a demo of the drone-based GPR at Site No. 13 on Monday and the search for any human remains will be conducted on Tuesday in the presence of SIT chief DGP Pronab Mohanty.

So far, SIT has dug up 15 sites shown by the whistleblower in the case and found human remains in only Site No. 6, while a skull and other human skeletal remains were found on the surface a site close to Site 11 which is now marked as Site 14.

There was delay in manual digging or the exhumation process at Site 13 due to technical issues, including presence of a dam, multiple electricity lines and proximity of the spot to the main road.

SIT chief DGP Pronab Mohanty is expected to arrive at 9.30am on Tuesday and the GPR survey of the spot is expected to go on for about 2 hours. Meanwhile, officials from the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) arrived at the office of the SIT on Tuesday to examine the complaints and the witness in connection with the case of alleged mass burials in Dharmasthala village in Belthangady taluk in Dakshina Kannada.

NHRC has taken suo motu cognisance of the matter and sources said that the officials will examine the complaints received and also record statements of the witness. NHRC team headed by Yuvaraj recorded statements from the witness complainant and also visited 15 alleged burial sites dug up by the SIT. The team is likely to be in the district till August 15 and is expected to seek some key information about the case from district police and the district administration, informed sources said.

Woman wants SIT to probe sister's death in '86

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

THIRTY-nine years after the mysterious death of a PU II student in Dharmasthala, her sister has approached the Special Investigation team (SIT) probing the alleged mass burials in the town, to reinvestigate the case.

In her complaint to SIT, Indravathi, sister of the victim Padmalatha, said, "My sister Padmalatha, who was studying PU II at SDM College in Ujire had gone missing on the eve of December 22, 1986, after reaching Dharmasthala. Her decomposed body was found near Neriya stream on February 17, 1987. My father's house was earlier located in Boliyar. My father late Devananda, who was a CPM leader, had fought for justice and demanded strict punishment for the perpetrators involved in the alleged abduction, rape and murder."

She said that the then government had launched a CID probe following public pressure and the matter was discussed in the Assembly.

"The then minister Rachaiah had visited our house in Boliyar and assured us of justice. But the probe didn't ensure justice and the case was closed. We didn't cremate the body of my sister instead buried it with a hope that we will serve as an evidence and get justice one day against her abduction, rape and murder. Hence, we hope that if we exhume her remains, we will get confirmation of her murder and I am ready to be the witness," she said in the complaint.

Allow compassionate appointments in private PU colleges: HC to State

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court said the deputy director has to identify vacant posts in private aided pre-university colleges if there are no vacancies in the institution where the deceased employee was working to grant a compassionate appointment to legal heirs. If vacancies are not available within the district, the issue has to be escalated to the director, who is duty-bound to identify and fill vacancies in institutions anywhere in the state, the court added.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order, quashing the endorsement dated September 20, 2024, issued by the School Education Department, rejecting the application filed by the petitioner, Santhosh Yamanappa Wadakar, from Bagalkot district. The rejection was solely on the ground that there was no vacancy at the private aided institution where his father was working. The court has now referred the matter to the Deputy Director of Pre-University Education. The petitioner's father, working as a first-grade assistant in Adarsh Composite PU College in Bevoor of Bagalkot district, passed away in 2009 while in service.

The petitioner applied for a compassionate appointment to the chairman of Adarsh Vidya Vardhaka Sangha, which was forwarded to the Deputy Director, who rejected it. It was also endorsed by the joint director of Pre-University Education.

The petitioner's counsel argued that the deputy director was required to not only consider vacancies in the institution of the deceased, but also in any institution within the district, as per the Karnataka Pre-University Education (Appointment on Compassionate Grounds) (Amendment) Rules, 2010. If no vacancy exists, the deputy director is required to identify a vacancy anywhere in the state.

Passenger jumps in front of Metro at Majestic

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

METRO services at Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Majestic metro station were briefly disrupted on Monday night after a passenger jumped in front of a train around 10.04 pm.

According to Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), the injured individual was rescued and rushed to a hospital. Emergency Trip System was operated, and four short-loop services were operated to manage commuters during the delay.

The incident caused brief delays on the Purple Line but services returned around 10.28 pm. BMRCL further stated that details on the passenger's condition were awaited.

Ramachandra Rao gets posting after 5 months

ENS @Bengaluru

NEARLY five months after being sent on compulsory leave following the arrest of his stepdaughter in a gold smuggling case, senior IPS officer K Ramachandra Rao has been posted as Director General of Police (DGP), Directorate of Civil Rights Enforcement (DCRE), on Monday.

Rao's stepdaughter and actress, Ranya Rao (34), was arrested by the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) on March 3, 2025, for allegedly smuggling gold from Dubai. She was found carrying 14.2 kg of foreign-origin gold bars worth Rs 12.56 crore. During the inquiry, it was revealed that Ranya had allegedly been misusing police escorts to evade customs checks and exit through the airport.

In March, he was questioned by a State government-appointed inquiry committee, led by Additional Chief Secretary Gaurav Gupta, to probe his role in the case. At the time of his compulsory leave, Ramachandra was serving as Chairman and Managing Director of the Karnataka State Police Housing and Infrastructure Development Corporation

CALLED INFERTILE, DOMESTIC HELP ATTACKS NURSE WITH MACHETE

Bengaluru: A 45-year-old domestic help was arrested for reportedly attacking a 21-year-old nurse with a machete at her employer's house, for calling her infertile. The victim, Sushmitha, a native of Upparahalli in Mulbagal taluk in Kolar, works as a nurse in a private hospital. The accused, Lalitha, is also from Kolar. "Lalitha was arrested on Sunday at a bus stop. She claimed she was mentally disturbed after the victim kept calling her infertile whenever she came to her employer's house. The complainant had kept the machete to peel coconut shells. We are yet to check when the nurse labelled the accused as infertile," said an officer. The incident happened in Mallesw-aram on Sunday, between 2am and 3am. Lalitha, who had been working as a domestic help in Sarojamma's residence, would sleep in the kitchen. Sushmitha would visit the complainant Sarojamma, and stay in the house if it got late. The victim was sleeping in a room on the third floor. Around 3am, Sushmitha sought help, saying she had been attacked by Lalitha. When Sarojamma and her son reached, the accused left, claiming she had to attend a housewarming ceremony. Sushmitha was hospitalised in Vyalikaval. ENS

RAJANNA'S FOOT-IN-MOUTH TRAIT PROVES HIS UNDOING

Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna (second from right) comes out of Vidhana Soudha, after his resignation, in Bengaluru on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru:

FORMER Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna, ST strongman and MLA from Madhugiri, has done it again. In his latest bombshell, Rajanna claimed that the Congress itself is responsible for the electoral rolls, a statement that contradicted Opposition Leader Rahul Gandhi and sent shockwaves among the party ranks.

The remark is the latest among Rajanna's growing controversies, giving him the reputation of the Congress minister most likely to trigger a political storm with his words.

This is not the first time Rajanna has left his party red-faced. In an episode on the floor of the House, he had declared himself a victim of circumstances who nearly fell prey to a honeytrap, a claim that reportedly left the Congress high command seething. There were also media reports about an alleged attempt to ensnare his son MLC Rajendra as well, which could have been a scandal with major potential ramifications.

Rajanna had earlier provoked Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar by suggesting the state should have three more deputy chief ministers, stunning even his supporters. Shivakumar, seething with anger, had politely ignored his statements because the high command had issued a diktat barring public sparring.

Rajanna's casual, sometimes cutting remarks about cabinet colleagues, especially Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, had repeatedly forced the minister's camp into damage control mode. Parameshwara and Rajanna have reportedly known each other from their campus days. The Madhugiri MLA also publicly berated his own party over delays in appointing heads to boards and corporations. He had also forecast a 'political revolution' in August-September, a cryptic prophecy that once again had the Congress scrambling to contain the fallout.

With each unfiltered outburst, KN Rajanna continues to live up to his reputation as the party's most unpredictable, and perhaps most dangerous, voice in the government.

THIS isn't the first time that Rajanna has set off political tremors. Earlier this year, he stunned the Assembly by alleging an attempt to honeytrap him — a sensational claim that drew national media attention and forced his party into frantic damage control.

But he survived then — protected, perhaps, by his long-standing bond with Siddaramaiah. But this time, it wasn't enough. With Rajanna's ouster, the state cabinet is left with just one ST minister: PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi. The resignation of minister B Nagendra some 14 months ago over the Valmiki Corporation corruption scandal had already miffed the politically vital ST population, especially in districts that border AP and Telangana.

Rajanna is believed to influence up to 15 key Assembly constituencies that have Nayaka population of 15-20%. Can Congress afford this loss with elections to zilla and taluk panchayats and BBMP around the corner is the big question.

While some suggest that it is all over for Rajanna, sources say he's already plotting his next move. With a reputation for bouncing back, some believe that Rajanna could quietly return to the cabinet within a year.

HOUSE PAYS RESPECTS TO PAHALGAM, STAMPEDE VICTIMS

BENGALURU: With the monsoon session of the State Legislature beginning on Monday, the House paid its condolences to those who passed away in the recent past. Accordingly, respects were paid to victims of the Pahalgam attack in Jammu and Kashmir, the 11 youngsters who died in the stampede near M Chinnaswamy Stadium during RCB's celebrations, and the 260 lives that were lost in the Air India AI 171 crash in Ahmedabad. Speaker UT Khader, CM Siddaramaiah, Leader of Oppostion in the Assembly R Ashoka, along with ministers Dr G Parameshwara and HK Patil made their remarks. Recalling the unfortunate episode during RCB's victory celebrations, the CM read out the victims' names and offered condolences. ENS

WATER TO KOLAR, CHIKKABALLAPURA BY MARCH 2027, SAYS DCM

BENGALURU: Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who is also the Water Resources Minister, said water will be supplied to Kolar and Chikkaballapura districts through the Yettinahole Project by March 2027. Replying to a question by MLA Venkatesha Reddy, he said the Yettinahole project was stalled. But the Congress government took it up on priority. Now, water will reach Tumakuru soon too. "There is some issue to construct a balancing reservoir for which land belonging to the Forest Department in Tumakuru is needed. This will be resolved in next two months," he added. ENS

'PM PROMISED TO LOOK INTO MY PLEA FOR FUNDS'

DCM DK Shivakumar said he spoke to PM Modi on the need for funds for the development of Bengaluru city. The PM promised to look into it. "All political parties have contributed to Bengaluru's growth. I won't say everything happened because of me or my party. It is our responsibility to make Bengaluru the best city," he said.

Assembly approves revocation of suspension of 18 BJP MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Assembly on Monday approved ratification to withdraw the suspension of 18 BJP MLAs. They were suspended for six months on March 21, on the last day of the budget session, for showing "indiscipline" and "disrespecting" the Speaker.

On Day 1 of the monsoon session on Monday, Karnataka Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil moved a motion seeking the Assembly's approval to withdraw the earlier decision of the House to suspend the 18 BJP MLAs. Speaker UT Khader put the motion for a voice vote, which was unanimously approved. The 18 MLAs who were suspended are former DCM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, BJP chief whip Doddanagouda Patil, Dr Bharath Shetty, Dheeraj Muniraju, SR Vishwanath, BA Basavaraju, MR Patil, Channabasappa, B Suresh Gowda, Umanath Kotian, Sharanu Salagar, Muniratna, Basavaraj Mattimud, Dr Shailendra Beldale, C K Ramamurthy, Yashpal Suvarna, BP Harish, and Chandru Lamani.

HK Patil said that after the suspension, Leader of Opposition in Assembly R Ashoka approached CM Siddaramaiah and Speaker Khader seeking the revoking of the suspension. The CM later urged the Speaker to call for a meeting, where it was decided to revoke the suspension. Patil further said that the suspended MLAs had expressed regret for their action and a petition was submitted to the Speaker.

The Speaker had suspended the 18 MLAs under Rule 348 of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in the Assembly, which was later approved by the House. According to the rules, withdrawal of a member's suspension from the House requires formal ratification by the House itself and not just a decision by the Speaker or a committee. The BJP MLAs were protesting against the government's decision to grant 4% reservation to minorities in government tenders and were also demanding a probe into the honey trap allegation raised by MLA KN Rajanna.

Despite Oppn pleas, 9-day session won't be extended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Business Advisory Committee of the Karnataka Legislature convened on Monday under the leadership of Assembly Speaker UT Khader and Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil, and Opposition leaders R Ashoka and Chalavadi Narayanaswamy were in attendance.

A key decision from the meeting was that the current nine-day session will not be extended, despite requests from BJP leaders. The ruling Congress firmly opposed any extension.

However, Siddaramaiah indicated that if additional discussions are necessary, the Assembly can begin proceedings earlier and continue late into the evening. Accordingly, Tuesday's session will begin at 10 am.

Responding to a request from former minister S Suresh Kumar, the committee agreed to hold a discussion on the state of government schools.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa will lead the debate on behalf of the government, while the Opposition will be represented by experienced legislators.

In a move to improve legislative transparency, the committee has decided that all Bills must be shared with the Opposition in advance. The law minister informed the House that 24 Bills have already been submitted, and the remaining 10 of the total 34 will be handed over on Tuesday. "The Opposition cannot claim they haven't received the bills for review," Patil stated.

The session is expected to see robust debates in the coming days, especially around key policy issues in education and legislative process transparency.

Who is CEO to issue notice to Rahul, asks DKS

ENS @ Bengaluru

A day after the CEO of Karnataka issued notice to Congress leader and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, DCM and KPCC president DK Shivakumar said, "Who is he (the officer)" to issue it.

Shivakumar said, "Let them issue notice. In the first place, who are they to issue it? We have the power to issue notice. They have the authority to conduct free and fair elections, but don't have power to issue notices. We will respond to the notice legally."

Shivakumar said the Congress is not scared of the Election Commission's notice. "We have informed the EC about the irregularities in the elections. It is their duty to rectify those mistakes and initiate action as per law. We are not scared of notices," he said.

"The EC can lodge a complaint if we have said anything wrong. We have only brought the election fraud to their attention. We have another option. But I don't want to discuss it now. We have told them about the fraud. It is their responsibility to look into it," he said.

Shivakumar said, "The officials have informed us that they have launched an investigation. We have also asked them for some information."

Rajanna spoke truth, but sacked: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP state president BY Vijayendra on Monday said the Congress was unable to digest that their own leader KN Rajanna exposed Rahul Gandhi's claims on vote theft, forcing him to resign.

Vijayendra said Rahul Gandhi's immature allegation against the Election Commission of India has become a joke. "Rajanna, one of the tall leaders from Schedule Tribe community who spoke the truth, has been removed. Rajanna was openly expressing displeasure over the Congress mismanagement and failures. The party high command was facing the heat because of this."

Vijayendra said the pattern is clear. "In the case of ST Welfare Minister Nagendra, funds earmarked for the development of the community were siphoned off to finance the Congress's election expenses. Instead of holding CM Siddaramaiah and DCM DK Shivakumar accountable, the blame was placed entirely on Nagendra, and the matter was quietly closed," he alleged. Vijayendra said even when SC/ST MLAs and ministers gather informally for a meal, the high command dictates that such meetings cannot happen without their physical presence, as though leaders from these communities cannot meet independently.

"This is the true face of Congress. They are anti-Dalit, anti-ST, anti-democracy and anti-truth. It also exposes the hollowness of Siddaramaiah's claims of championing the AHINDA cause," he said adding that when leaders from these communities are targeted, he does not defend them. Instead, he bows to the diktats of the Delhi High Command to safeguard his own position as chief minister.

BJP Karnataka in its official handle on X posted: "All Rajanna did was to expose how Congress high command is lying and insulting Kannadigas by calling them a 'fraud.' Unless you have mastered the art of crawling in front of the dynasty, you cannot be in Congress. Hence, proved. Without lies, Congress dies. Proved again."

BJP LOOKS TO CORNER CONG GOVT ON STADIUM STAMPEDE, DHARMASTHALA BURIAL CASE

BENGALURU: The BJP held its Legislature Party meeting on Monday to discuss issues to be addressed in the monsoon session. According to Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka, many suggestions have come from members about what must be disucssed. He has already moved an adjournment motion to discuss the stampede that occurred near M Chinnaswamy Stadium during RCB's victory celebrations, claiming 11 lives, which is expected to come up on Tuesday. He added that they will also be raising issues related to fertiliser shortage, crop loss, and also alleged misinformation being spread in the wake of the Dharmasthala mass burial case. Referring to the SIT probing the case, Ashoka said it has been many days since the team was constituted. But no report is out yet. "They had earlier indicated 13 sites, which is now increasing. People are also questioning. There is misinformation being spread. If the complainant was clear, something would've been found in the first site itself. They alleged hundreds of girls were murdered. There is someone behind this and why government is silent," he added. ENS

Teachers harassed over dirty school toilets, rue MLCs

ENS @ Bengaluru

SHOULD teachers wash toilets in government schools? This pertinent question was raised by Council members Ramoji Gowda, Madhu G Made Gowda and Vivekananda, who flagged the concerns of teachers in government schools over poor grants for maintenance.

Ramoji Gowda said the grant given for cleanliness of toilets in government schools is worthless, and even if the grant is increased, improvement is difficult. "Children cannot wash toilets. Teachers have other jobs. So if someone wants to take action against a teacher, it is enough to put a broom in the hands of the children and if the photos go viral on social media, the teacher will be suspended. Teachers should be free from such harassment," he said.

Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa replied that posts of cleaners in government primary and high schools have not been sanctioned. "Provision has been made to appoint a local school supervisory committee for maintenance of toilet cleanliness, and 10 per cent of the school grant is given. He said the money earmarked for management is less, and 20-30 per cent of the money will be provided after discussions at the department level," he said.

Uproar in Council over Chalavadi's dog comment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

In response to Leader of Opposition in the Council Chalavadi T Narayanaswamy's 'privilege motion' in the Legislative Council here on Monday, Deputy Chairman SL Boje Gowda said suitable action would be taken after a report from the privileges panel.

Chalavadi had moved a privilege motion before Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti, alleging he was 'heckled' and 'illegally confined' for five hours at the government guesthouse in Chittapur on May 21. He told the House that despite the presence of nearly 300 policemen, none took any step to protect him.

Chalavadi said, "More than 25 people had ganged up against me and police were mute spectators. I was detained for five hours by the goondas, who were sent by minister Priyank Kharge. Police officers kept silent and did not take any action, which is a breach of my privileges. Not a single FIR was filed despite my complaint."

He sought an apology from Kharge in the presence of CM Siddaramaiah, else his resignation. BJP MLC CT Ravi lamented that a Leader of the Opposition was confined illegally for hours, though he is like the shadow CM. When Congress ministers and MLCs targeted Chalavadi, saying he had likened Kharge to a dog, Chalavadi said he had only quoted a proverb that barking dogs cannot scare an elephant, and questioned why none registered a complaint. He asked Congress MLCs and ministers what they would do if they were illegally confined for hours, setting off a verbal duel between ruling and opposition party members.

"The goondas were sent by Priyank. He is also a goonda," Chalavadi said. Congress members opposed usage of the words 'gooda' and 'dog' in the Council and requested Deputy Chairman Boje Gowda to have the above words removed from the records, to which he agreed.

'Vacant posts in medical colleges will be filled'

BENGALURU: Medical Education Minister Dr Sharanprakash Patil assured the Council that after the state government takes a clear decision regarding internal reservation, vacant posts in medical colleges will be filled. Answering a question from MLC Manjegowda on Monday, he said Justice HN Nagamohan Das has given a report to the government regarding internal reservation, which was discussed in the cabinet meeting, and a final decision may be taken in the next special cabinet meeting. The CM has instructed that no posts in any department are to be filled until the government takes a final decision on internal reservation. He clarified that the department cannot do anything till then. There are a total of 21,860 vacancies in medical colleges, of which, 9,413 posts have been filled, and 12,447 are still vacant.

Man-animal conflict: No relief given to people from Kerala, says Khandre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
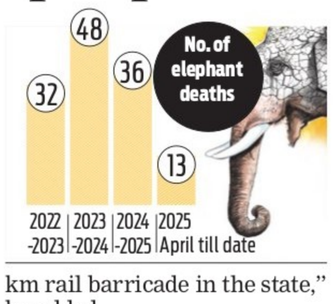
@ Bengaluru

FOREST Minister Eshwar Khandre on Monday refuted BJP MLC Pratap Simha Nayak's claim that the state government is giving compensation to the kin of people of Kerala in border areas killed or injured in wild animal attacks.

Replying during Question Hour in the Legislative Council, Khandre said the government has not given a single rupee as compensation to the kin of those from Kerala killed or injured in such attacks.

He said 13 deaths due to elephant attacks have been reported in the state since this April. The government has erected rail barricades covering over 116 km to prevent elephants and other wild animals from straying into human habitats from the forests. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has permitted the forest department to erect such barricades up to 200 km. "We have sent a proposal to the finance department as per km of rail barricade will cost Rs 1.25 crore. There is a need for another 300 km rail barricade in the state," he added.



To prevent man-animal conflict, the forest department has erected tentacle fences covering 1,300 km of forest areas. Kodagu reported most cases of elephant deaths compared to Chamarajanagar, Bengaluru Rural, Hassan, Mandya, Mysuru, Chikkamagaluru, Ramanagara, Shivamogga and Dakshina Kannada districts, he said.

Khandre said Karnataka tops the list of states in terms of number of elephants with 6,395. It is second in terms of tiger numbers with 300 big cats.

"In Kodagu, 114 elephants live outside the forests (in coffee estates) and in Hassan district, there are 60 such elephants. The government has increased the compensation given to the kin of those killed in elephant attacks from Rs 15 lakh to 20 lakh. Forest officials have been instructed to capture rogue elephants," Khandre said.

The Supreme Court on Monday refused to expunge its earlier remarks against former TN minister Senthil Balaji and said that it would not change even a single word or even "touch a single word" of the previous judgments in cases concerning him seeking expunction of certain remarks made in the judgments related to the cash-for-jobs scam case

BJD TO MOVE HC OVER IRREGULARITIES IN 2024 POLLS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar

EIGHT months after approaching the Election Commission of India (ECI) alleging large-scale irregularities in 2024 Assembly and Lok Sabha elections in Odisha, the Biju Janata Dal (BJD) on Monday announced that it will move the Orissa High Court on the issue as no steps have been initiated by the poll body to satisfactorily address its concerns.

Former party MPs Amar Patnaik and Sarmistha Sethi along with Pattamundai MLA Dhruba Charan Sahu told mediapersons that BJD had drawn the attention of ECI to three major discrepancies.

They alleged that the number of votes counted in all the 21 Lok Sabha constituencies was more than the votes in the EVMs. Citing some examples, Patnaik said at booth number 57 of Phulbani Assembly constituency under Kandhamal Lok Sabha seat, the difference was 682. Similarly, in booth number booth numbers 165 and 219 of Talsara Assembly segment under Sundargarh parliamentary constituency, the difference was 660 and 784 respectively. "This is more less than true in a majority of booths," he said.

The second was a visible difference in votes polled in a Lok Sabha constituency and the seven Assembly segments within it. The discrepancies ranged from 4,056 votes in Dhenkanal to 3,521 votes in Kandhamal and 2,701 votes in Balangir, according to their memorandum. The third issue raised was 15 to 30 per cent of the polling in different Lok Sabha and Assembly constituencies was recorded after the scheduled closure of the voting time. The BJD had submitted a memoramdum to the ECI in this regard on December 19, 2024, urging explanation on the issues and concerns raised by the party. It had demanded that ECI should conduct an independent audit of the voting process in the Lok Sabha and Assembly elections in Odisha. Besides, it had also demanded that form 17C should be provided to the candidates after the election results were out. But the poll panel is yet to provide the form, the leaders alleged.

They said the state Congress has also raised the issue following the allegations of 'vote theft' made by Rahul Gandhi recently. The BJD leaders alleged that as the Election Commission of India has failed to address issues on transparency of the election process in Odisha, the party will move the Orissa High Court soon seeking redressal of its grievances.

BANDIPUR JUMBO ATTACK

Criminal cases will be filed against violators

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A videograb of the elephant attacking the man in Bandipur Tiger reserve

FOREST officials have decided to file criminal cases against people violating rules under the Wildlife Protection Act and not just limit themselves to imposing fines in view of a tusker attacking a man, who was taking a selfie, in Bandipur Tiger Reserve (BTR) on Sunday.

A video of the incident, which went viral, led to debates on various platforms of social media. While some wildlife enthusiasts alleged that "incompetence" and "crowd mismanagement" by forest officials led to the incident, others stated that lack of awareness among tourists was the reason for it.

Around 5.30 pm on Sunday, a vehicle stopped on NH 212 (also known as NH 766), the road through BTR connecting Tamil Nadu and Mysuru, and the man came out of it to take a selfie with the tusker. The tusker, which was on the other side of the road, got agitated by shrill horns and the presence of people there and attacked the man. "We have obtained the video. We have learnt that the man is safe and did not sustain injuries," Deputy Conservator of Forests of BTR S Prabhakaran said.

Ravishankar SS, Conservator of Forests, Mysuru Circle, said forest staff reached the spot within five minutes. By then, the man had escaped. Getting off vehicles in reserved forests is a violation of forest rules, and a fine alone is not sufficient, he said. "We have sought the government's permission to file criminal cases under various Sections of the Wildlife Protection Act against the violators. Despite several speed trackers on the highway and the presence of forest personnel at the entry and exit gates, people violate rules. Cameras installed along the highway have been damaged by animals. New cameras will be installed soon," an official said.

Meanwhile, Forest Minister Eshwar B Khandre said directives have been issued to the forest department to deploy vehicles for patrolling on roads passing through forests and take strict action against those violating the rules.

Man arrested

The injured man, Basavaraj, 50, was arrested from his home in Nanjangud at 4 pm on Monday. He was penalised and also made to record his statement before the forest officials admitting that he got off the vehicle to take a selfie. In the video that has now gone viral, Basavaraj appealed to people not to step out of their vehicles inside forests and requested them to follow all rules. Basavaraj said that he had visited Bandipur to go to a temple and, while returning, decided to take a selfie with the tusker in the backdrop. Fearing being caught, he had switched off his mobile phone.

In a first, Dalit granted entry into K'taka hamlet

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@ Kudligi/Hosapete

THANKS to the efforts of Kudligi MLA NT Srinivas and taluk administration, a huge milestone has been achieved. For the first time since Independence, a Dalit has been allowed into Kallahalli Gullarahatti hamlet in Kudligi taluk.

Villagers had refused entry to any Dalits, believing that it would bring them misfortune. Recently, they refused to allow a Dalit official to come into the village to conduct a survey. The officer informed Tahasildar VK Netravati, who, along with the staff, called the villagers and admonished them for practising such superstitious beliefs that are in direct violation of the Constitution.

The village is a border settlement mainly inhabited by the Yadav community, comprising approximately 130 households. Thanks to the tahsildar and MLA Srinivas, villagers finally allowed the Dalit officer to enter the village, letting go of their customs mired in superstitious beliefs.

Srinivas said following such practices, whether knowingly or unwittingly, are against the Constitution. "The villagers' decision to welcome Dalits is a progressive step in terms of development and social justice, as such discriminatory practices are detrimental to society.

Netravati said, "After the Dalit officer was barred from the village, I instructed officials to hold a meeting with the villagers. We told them about the constitutional provisions and the potential consequences of carrying on with such practices. The villagers agreed to respect and welcome Dalit youths and groups into their community." Apart from the ban on Dalits, the villagers also banish menstruating women into separate huts.

Only 329 hospitals in K'taka follow fire safety rules

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A shocking fact has emerged that only 329 of all registered government and private hospitals in Karnataka have met fire safety standards, leading to big questions surrounding patient and staff safety. Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao replied to a question asked by Council member Dhananjay Sarji that only 14 of 2,878 government hospitals, and 315 of 5,850 private hospitals in the state have implemented fire safety measures.

According to the National Building Code, all hospitals in the state have to adopt uniform fire safety measures, but most do not. Only 14 government and 315 private hospitals have met the criteria for fire safety approval. In reply, Gundu Rao said that in 2024 alone, three hospitals reported fire accidents, and a meeting was convened on it. Earlier, fire accidents were not given much attention. When the information about the implementation of fire safety measures was taken to avoid future disasters, it was noticed that 2,864 government hospitals were not following proper fire safety measures. "It will cost around Rs 550 crore for fire safety clearance for government hospitals," he said.

'We're unable to provide jobs to many this yr'

AS the Central Government's also amended the national flag code, many government buildings and institutes too have started flying polyester flags, shunning khadi flags, which are priced higher. Though khadi flags have a longer life, they are losing demand swiftly. The Sangh has now written to the Karnataka government and RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge, asking them to ensure that government institutes hoist khadi Tricolours during Independence Day and Republic Day.

Khadi Federation Secretary in Hubballi, Shivanand Matapati, said the change in policy has hit the Sangha and its workers hard. "As we have lesser orders, we are unable to provide employment to many this year. The national flag-making unit of Bengeri appoints only women workers and many have no work this season. If it continues, it will be a big setback to the federation and its efforts to popularise khadi," he added. He said that despite the government order, many government institutions have still not adopted khadi flags for national festivals. "We have demanded the state government to send a circular to government institutes to use khadi flags mandatorily," he said. Besides national flags, the Bengeri unit also makes khadi items like bags, dresses and bedspreads.

Forest, tribal welfare depts to pool in resources

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE forest and tribal welfare departments will pool in resources to address housing, relocation and rehabilitation of tribals and forest dwellers outside the forest, and also provide other facilities. This was decided at a meeting between the two departments, chaired by Forest, Environment and Ecology Minister Eshwar B Khandre.

Sources said the tribal welfare department demanded that tribals be given individual and community forest rights, besides reservation in employment in various forest task forces and zoos. They also sought to recruit tribals who have worked for 20 years on contract basis, as permanent employees.

"All demands cannot be addressed immediately. They will be discussed before the final decision is taken. What was agreed upon was convergence of resources, which is the need of the hour. It was also decided to take a relook at the long-pending proposal of rehabilitating and adequately compensating tribals and forest dwellers who were displaced during the construction of projects like the Nugu dam," said a forest officer, not wanting to be named. The official added that the decision to provide reservation in employment cannot be done as it is based on competitive examination basis and transparency needs to be maintained.

Kerala woman's suicide: BJP alleges 'love jihad'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

POLICE on Monday arrested the boyfriend of the 23-year-old woman who died by suicide in Kothamangalam, on charges of rape under the pretext of marriage, abetment of suicide, and assault. The case has sparked a controversy, with BJP leaders alleging the woman was the victim of a 'love jihad'-linked religious conversion attempt.

Sona Eldhose, was found dead at her residence around 2 pm on Saturday. She was alone at the time. Ramees (24), a native of Alangad in Aluva and a temporary employee at the Cochin International Airport in Nedumbassery, was first taken into preventive custody, and was later formally arrested under multiple sections of the BNS for abetment of suicide, rape under the pretext of marriage, wrongful confinement, and voluntarily causing hurt. Police said his father and mother have also been booked and will be taken into custody for questioning.

According to Ernakulam rural police, a suicide note recovered from Sona's house alleges that she was pressured by Ramees and his father to convert to their faith, and that she was assaulted. "We have obtained evidence from their WhatsApp chats indicating that Ramees assaulted Sona. The messages also reveal that when Sona expressed her intention to end her life, Ramees encouraged her to do so," police said. The note begins, "I don't want to live a life where I have to endure such betrayal." Sona wrote that she had forgiven Ramees after his arrest in an immoral trafficking case, but alleged he proved he never truly loved her. She accused him of forcing her to convert to his religion. The note claims his family told her they had arranged a car to take her to Ponnani for conversion, and that marriage would take place only two months after conversion.

Student eligible for degree based on ITI or diploma, fit for LLB course too: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHEN a student is eligible for a degree course based on a job-oriented Industrial Training Institute (ITI) course or diploma, the university or its affiliated college cannot deny admission to the student for the LLB course on the ground that the student secured an ITI course instead of PUC, said the Karnataka High Court.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order while allowing the petition filed by Shamasundar from Bagalkot district.

While praying the court to quash the endorsement dated June 2, 2025, issued by Karnataka State Law University (KSLU), the petitioner requested the court to issue a direction to the university to issue an eligibility certificate to him based on BA degree completed by him and allow him admission in any of its affiliated law colleges for admission to three-year law course in response to his application dated June 1, 2025.

Accepting both the prayers of the petitioner, the court said that when it is submitted that in the ITI course, a language is not part of the curriculum, the question of imposing a condition that the student should have studied a language in the ITI course, which is not part of the curriculum, is completely devoid of merit and indicates the non-application of mind on the part of the Education Department insofar as the notification dated March 12, 2025 is concerned.

Therefore, the Education Department would have to have a relook at this and consider the ground realities of no language being offered as a subject in the ITI course and issue suitable directions, the court added.

The petitioner, after completing the ITI course in 2015, did a Bachelor of Arts from Rani Channamma University. He had applied for admission to the Bachelor of Laws 3-year course in KSLU. He also approached several law colleges that were affiliated with KSLU.

However, he was informed that his application could not be accepted, citing the notification dated March 12, 2025, issued by the Education Department, requiring a candidate to have taken up a language as a subject in ITI. Since the same had not been done, the petitioner's application was not accepted, and an endorsement was issued by the university. Therefore, he approached the high court.

ALL SET FOR DASARA

This jumbo tips the scale, at 5,465 kg Bhima the heaviest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

A day after the first batch of nine elephants, led by howdah elephant Abhimanyu, arrived on the Mysuru Palace premises for training to participate in the Mysuru Dasara Jumboo Savari, they underwent their weight test on Monday morning.

Twenty-five-year-old Bhima (5,465 kg) emerged as the heaviest, followed by Abhimanyu (5,360 kg).

DCF (Wildlife) IB Prabhugoud said the weight test for all nine elephants was completed successfully.

Howdah elephant Abhimanyu weighed 5,360 kg on Monday | UDAYASHANKAR S

"We did a medical checkup and found all the elephants to be healthy. Their weights are well-maintained, so there is no need to increase them. The male elephants have retained the same weight as last year. This test helps assess their health and determine if their weight or stamina needs improvement. We will prepare individual diet charts for each elephant based on their weight," he said, adding that the results help decide the type of protein and special food the elephants require.

"We will meet with veterinarians on Monday evening to finalise the diet. Based on their recommendations, special feeding and training will begin on Tuesday," he said.

Meanwhile, other Mysuru Dasara elephants Ekalavya weighed 5,305 kg, Lakshmi 3,730 kg, Mahendra 5,120 kg, Kanjan 4,880 kg, Kaveri 3,010 kg, Dhananjaya 5,310 kg, and Prasantha 5,110 kg.

AGE-OLD TRADITION

Sairam and Co. — where the elephants were weighed — proprietor Ganesh Prasad said he receives an honorarium of Rs 50 for weighing a Dasara elephant. "My father set up this weighing bridge on Dhanwantari Road 60 years ago, and we have been weighing Dasara elephants for the past 25 years. We take pride in knowing that the preparations for the Jumboo Savari begin at our weighing bridge. Over the years, we have weighed and assessed legendary elephants like Balarama, Drona, and Arjuna. Arjuna alone used to weigh around six tonnes," he recalled. The nine elephants, welcomed at Jayamarthanda Gate on Sunday evening, are housed near Kodi Someshwara Swamy Temple. They will undergo nearly two months of drills, including regular practice walks from Mysuru Palace to Bannimantap. After participating in the savari, they will return to their respective forest camps.

PUNISHING MAN'S BEST FRIEND FOR GOVT FAILURE INHUMANE, IMPRACTICAL

THE Supreme Court's directions to the National Capital Region's authorities to round up all stray dogs and put them in shelters within eight weeks fly in the face of the Animal Birth Control Rules, 2023. India relies on sterilisation and immunisation to control the population of stray dogs and prevent the spread of diseases like rabies. The responsibility belongs to local bodies to implement the policy. If they had done so as mandated, the difference would be noticeable on our streets. However, this has rarely been the case, more so during the Covid years when the local bodies were occupied in managing the pandemic. There have been increasing reports of stray dogs attacking residents, including children and the elderly. According to the government's Integrated Disease Surveillance Programme, there were 37,15,713 dog bite cases (25,210 in Delhi) in India in 2024, compared to 30,52,521 (17,874 in Delhi) in 2023. There were 54 rabies deaths in 2024, against 50 in 2023 (zero in Delhi for both years). Therefore, the issue is extremely important. However, the top court's response appears to be a case of impractical judicial overreach.

The government of India, from when the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act was enacted in 1960, has adopted a humane approach that balances the rights and needs of humans against those of animals, including dogs. Dogs are a unique species that co-evolved with humans to become companions. If their population has exploded to the point of man's best friend being seen as a 'menace', the fault and failure is not of the ABC policy—or the dogs—but its implementation.

Beyond being cruel and inhumane in the name of protecting humans, the SC's directions cannot possibly be implemented. Delhi reportedly has a stray dog population of 10 lakh: consider the number of shelters to be set up, land to be acquired, and staff to be trained and recruited to undertake the care of these animals for the rest of their natural lives. Most existing dog shelters run by local authorities are frequently flagged for being poorly staffed and maintained, with animals often left to suffer and die. The safety of humans is undoubtedly important; but what does it say of our humanity if we are so willing to blithely vanish an entire species of animals from a region when more humane solutions are available?

SAI VACANCIES A MAJOR CONCERN FOR SPORTS

THE passage of the National Sports Governance Bill and India's bids for the 2036 Olympics and 2030 Commonwealth Games have been dominating the sporting discourse for a while. In fact, the Commonwealth Games bid, which not too many countries are interested in hosting, has reached an advanced stage where delegations from Commonwealth Sports have visited Ahmedabad, the projected host city. However, hosting big-ticket events or passing a bill is one thing, but developing a strong sporting nation is another.

Given the tall ambitions, severe understaffing at the Sports Authority of India, the nation's premier body in the field, does not bode well. SAI not only facilitates and funds sports organisations, it also takes care of grassroots development through its training centres and the sports ministry's flagship Khelo India schemes. Given this, the government's recent admission in the Rajya Sabha that only 860 of SAI's sanctioned 1,524 coaching positions are filled should worry us. There are shortages of high-performance coaches (15 of the sanctioned 50 appointed), chief coaches (47 of 100), senior coaches (71 of 200), and assistant coaches. The issue, however, is not about SAI's efforts on the front—the tepid response to its advertisements reveals a lack of available or interested talent. With more sports academies mushrooming across the country, coaches have found more remunerative careers elsewhere. To counter this, SAI needs to review its policy of giving contractual and on-deputation positions to coaches, who would prefer more job security.

The understaffed sports science wing should be a bigger concern. There is no department head at the moment, nor are there high-performance directors (only three of the allowed 23 positions filled). Scientific support to an athlete should begin from the formative years; so, not having qualified staff is a grave concern for the country's sporting future. Elite athletes are well taken care of; it's the grassroots that suffer.

The ministry has tabled an anti-doping bill in parliament but the National Anti-Doping Agency, too, lacks adequate manpower. The government stated that 10 of NADA's 19 positions are filled; however, the agency's website lists only six names. The sports ministry and SAI must realise that hosting events will not help build a strong sporting nation, but having a robust coaching programme backed by science will.

QUICK TAKE

METRO TO THE FUTURE

IT'S as if a thirst felt for eight long years was quenched. Commuter interest on Day One of India's latest metro extension—Yellow Line of Bengaluru's Namma Metro—brightly reflected the promise of efficient mass rapid transit. By one estimate, India's ever-expanding cities are in the process of adding about 590 km of new lines. It's a moment to remind ourselves of the various urban ills metros solve with faster commutes, cleaner air and fewer man-hours lost in traffic. It's also time to address a paradox: some metro plans are starved of cash while others are built as vanity projects in cities where they remain underused. Surely, these two lines need to meet for meaningful development.

From kindergarten to the corporate world, genuine acknowledgment is being replaced by overpraise. Whether aimed at fostering a positive mindset or productivity, this new culture is killing credibility

MANDAR PARDIKAR

WHAT in tarnation is this? If praise is the positive, overpraise is a negative—too much of something that destroys the original. I would define overpraise to be just that. We seem to live in a society that thrives on doing this again and again.

Listen carefully to the words we use. Without sounding oblique and pedantic, I will dip into a piece of research that we just concluded among a chain of kindergarten schools (if you can call them that today) located across India's top 8 cities.

The idea is to elicit what is being done in early-learning schools across India. How have things changed? And most certainly, what's working and what's not.

Without dipping into the macros elicited, let me just focus on the singular issue of overpraise. Within our schools, teachers are taught to be kind and nice. Gone are the days of the strict teacher and the stern voice.

Every good teacher is trained to be kind, sweet and firm when needed. The definition of this very firmness is different though. Teachers in early-learning schools are encouraged to use the positive word, the kind and understanding tone, the encouraging tenor and a low decibel voice. The idea is to get our kids moving ahead the way the whole world moves, with a positive vibe.

The philosophy revolves around a positive mental attitude that we need to develop in our tiny-tots.

Our observational piece of research brings up one big point to note though. Older teachers are on the back foot and have adapted themselves to the new regime of praise and overpraise. Every child is appreciated much more than scolded. Gone are the days of the strict teacher. In fact teachers are called teachers no more even. Gone is the stentorian voice. The word NO is replaced by gentler goad words.

The spirit of experimentation is not curtailed at all. And gone of course are the punishments and the reproaches that all of us have grown up with in early life. The idea is to immerse yourself into a learning environment that is kind and committed. Till here, all is good.

What does not seem to be such a good thing is the theoretical number of 88, which is the percentage of teachers who do believe that praise is the best thing to heap on a child. Every child is praised. Every action is viewed from the prism of praise.

In the bargain, overpraise is a disease that has entered even our early-schooling formats for tiny tots.

Now let's move quickly into our homes. How do we bring up our little children? Praise again is the dominant format adopted. A child used to praise in school wants it at home as well.

What better people to get it from than your very own dear parents. Our parents in the big cities with kids schooled in the best of schools heap praise in abundance on their kids. Every action has words associated to it. You are a "good boy" is a common one. When good loses power as a positive word, in comes the "great" word. "wonderful", "brilliant" and "wow" are cousin words that have made an entry into the modern Indian household.

Gone again are the harsh taunts, the sarcastic remarks, the punishments (again), the time-outs in the corner, the finger-on -the-lips routine, and most certainly the occasional beatings. Anyone remember any of this, or am I imagining it all as a manner in which a whole generation of us Indians have been brought up in the past?

And many of us have gone on to head corporations, academic institutions, governments and have equally become scientists and presidents and more. The times in modern India in its big cities and its big schools and its big homes have changed. Our kids are being brought up in an environment of abundant praise. Too much praise even. The word is overpraise.

Let me jump quickly to our work environments then. The same seems to prevail by and large. The corporate workplace which is my consulting playground is rife with it.

Today's biggest sin of commission is the culture of overpraise. When a "good job" would suffice as a positive statement by the age manager, the guy is going berserk. "Great job", "brilliant", "kick-ass" and a whole host of positive-reinforcement words are the buzz words of today.

In the bargain, the corporate workplace is filled with the clutter of the superlatives. Every manager seems to vie with his neighbour in this race for overpraise. In the bargain, overpraise is the new disease around. Praise is old hat and positive acknowledgement is so yesterday. Today's buzz is about using words of overpraise as a tool to motivate people to work better.

In the bargain, has credibility lost the race? And most importantly, does the culture of overpraise have a complete lack of integrity packed into its DNA? The answer my dear friends, is blowing in the corridors of our workplace. Overpraise is the new tool in the hands of the corporate monkey.

Overpraise is the easy route out used by a whole host of souls in India today. A whole generation of people have gotten used to it, from early-school certificates to corporate pats on the back in today's aggressive, hyper-competitive work environments. It's a bad habit that has quietly crept into our personal and public lives, feeding egos while diluting standards. Is it time to call the bluff of the bluff? Must we now traverse the reverse direction? Must we go from great to merely good? And from good to just 'ok'.

In Kannada, we have a phrase that says, "mangana kaiyalli manikya"(valuable gems in the hands of a monkey). Every Indian language has something similar. It is time to sit up and review our culture of overpraise. Let's think it out folks.

THE FUTILITY OF BANNING BOOKS

C P SURENDRAN

Poet, novelist and screenplay writer whose latest novel is One Love and the Many Lives of Osip B

ON August 5, as the Chinar Book Festival backed by the central culture ministry unfolded in Srinagar, the Jammu and Kashmir administration under Lieutenant-Governor Manoj Sinha banned 25 books, branding them as promoters of "false narratives" and "secessionism".

Works by A G Noorani, Sumantra Bose, Arundhati Roy, and Victoria Schofield—texts on Kashmir's history and human rights—were targeted under Section 98 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita 2023, with penalties for possession or distribution ranging from three years to life. How ingenious is it for a government to run a grand festival and simultaneously cancel books?

The J&K home department justified the ban as a necessary purge of "secessionist literature". The order claims these books—such as Noorani's The Kashmir Dispute 1947-2012 and Roy's Azadi—radicalise youth by "distorting historical facts, glorifying terrorists, vilifying security forces, and fostering grievance, victimhood, and terrorist heroism". Police raids on Srinagar bookstores followed, although no confirmed seizures have been reported. The books, many of which were published years ago by the likes of Penguin and Routledge, raise a question: why now, when their presence has long been acknowledged?

Since 2019, the central government has funded literary festivals in Kashmir. These events profess to celebrate ideas, yet the ban and measures like this set back the progress that the Indian State claims it is making in Kashmir.

Since the 2019 revocation of Article 370, J&K, as a Union territory, grants the L-G sweeping powers under the J&K Reorganisation Act 2019. Amendments to the Transaction of Business Rules in July 2024 further entrenched the L-G's control over police, public order, the Anti-Corruption Bureau, and prosecution sanctions, sidelining Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, whose National Conference won the November 2024 elections.

Abdullah has opposed the current ban. He has gone on record that he has never banned a book and never will. Not that what he thinks makes much difference. Surely, he must wonder the point of running an elected government when the real power rests with the Raj Bhawan.

The ban's timing—on the sixth anniversary of Article 370's revocation—suggests a calculated move to reassert central control. The state home department cites 'systemic dissemination' of secessionist literature, but the abrupt order naturally lacks transparency or judicial review.

Book bans are a tired tool of power. In 35 CE, Roman emperor Caligula banned The Odyssey for its themes of freedom, fearing rebellion. Assassinated in 41 CE by the Praetorian Guards for his tyrannical rule, Caligula's censorship failed to suppress Homer's work; a couple of millenniums later, he would have been furious to know about the sell-out of Christopher Nolan's movie version of The Odyssey a year ahead of its release.

X.COM

J&K's ban of 25 books while a govt-backed literary festival was on sent contradictory messages. The history of book bans show they are ineffective and heighten interest in the works. This ban also raises questions of the timing, after the books had been available for years

In 1497-98, the Florentine friar Girolamo Savonarola's 'bonfires of the vanities' put to the torch "immoral" texts; yet, he was eventually executed by the pope and immoral literature continued to flourish. The Nazis' 1933 book burnings included works by Einstein and Kafka, whose works endure. In India, Rama Retold (1954) and The Da Vinci Code (2006) faced bans for offending religious sentiments, yet remain accessible online. There have been other banned books, like D H Lawrence's Lady Chatterley's Lover, Vladimir Nabakov's Lolita, James Joyce's Ulysses, and Mark Twain's Adventures of Tom Sawyer among them. Each country finds its suitable books to burn. But none of them stayed ashes forever. You can defeat a good writer, but you cannot destroy his/her book.

Still, the boycott and mania have continued to grow. Social media-driven boycotts, from films to jewellery, echo this impulse to control narratives and are learned from rulers past and present. India seems to be growing more intolerant. "Where they burn books, they will, in the end, burn human beings too," said German poet Heinrich Heine.

In 2025, banning books is about as medieval as you can get in a digital world. The targeted texts are available as e-books or PDFs on Amazon, Google Books, or pirated sites like LibGen. Anuradha Bhasin, whose A Dismantled State was banned, notes their online ubiquity.

The latest ban signals heightened control in a region scarred by conflict, with hundreds killed since 1989. By targeting scholars like Sumantra Bose, whose Kashmir at the Crossroads seeks pathways to peace, the administration alienates Kashmiris further. The LG's unilateral action, bypassing the elected government and the central government's contradictory cultural initiatives undermine reconciliation. The ban exposes a timeless trait of power: distrust of the people it claims to serve.

Terms like 'false narratives' and 'secessionism' are highly misinterpretable depending on who is using them, when. Banning books means not much these days on the ground, as they can be accessed freely from ether, as it were. On the other hand, if the government is correct and somehow some books have been found threatening the integrity of the country, why have they been in circulation for so long? Equally, will there be more old books to be discovered and damned as time goes by? As of now, all the government seems to have done is to ensure that these books have found a fresh lease of life.

MEA slams Munir for Pak N-sabre-rattling from US, says blackmail won't work

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA on Monday slammed Pakistan Army Chief General Asim Munir for his latest round of nuclear sabre-rattling, calling his remarks "irresponsible" and emblematic of Pakistan's "stock-in-trade". The Ministry of External Affairs issued a strongly-worded statement after Munir, during a visit to the US, once again invoked the threat of nuclear conflict with India.

Later in the evening, the Foreign Secretary told the MEA standing committee members that the government will take up the matter with the US. Standing committee chairman Shashi Tharoor told the press that a question was asked about Munir's "nuclear sabre-rattling", and Misri said India will not tolerate such nuclear blackmail. "It was not good that Munir used the soil of a friendly country to make such a statement, and this message will be conveyed," Misri said.

In response to Munir, India accused the Pakistan military establishment of being "hand-in-glove with terrorist groups," and pointed out that Munir's comments only deepened international concerns over the safety and credibility of Pakistan's nuclear command.

"Nuclear sabre-rattling is Pakistan's stock-in-trade," the MEA said. "The international community can draw its own conclusions on the irresponsibility inherent in such remarks, which also reinforce the well-held doubts about the integrity of nuclear command and control in a state where the military is hand-in-glove with terrorist groups."

India expressed displeasure that Munir made the remarks on the soil of a "friendly third country," referring to the US, without naming it explicitly. This is the second visit of the Pakistan army chief to the US since Operation Sindoor. "It is regrettable that these remarks should have been made from the soil of a friendly third country," the MEA said.

It reiterated India's firm stance against nuclear coercion and blackmail. The MEA asserted that New Delhi would not yield to threats. "India has already made it clear that it will not give in to nuclear blackmail. We will continue to take all steps necessary to safeguard our national security."

Sources said Munir's rhetoric must serve as a warning; a nuclear-armed state, accused of colluding with terror groups, cannot be allowed to use its arsenal as a bargaining chip.

Modi says India committed to peace, strengthening ties with Ukraine

Zelenskyy dials PM ahead of Trump-Putin summit

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

WITH eyes around the globe transfixed on the upcoming Trump-Putin summit in Alaska on August 15, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy held a strategically-timed telephonic conversation to discuss the conflict in Ukraine, possible peace efforts, and bilateral ties.

In a post on X, the Prime Minister said he was "glad to speak with President Zelenskyy and hear his perspectives on recent developments," adding that India remains committed to "making every possible contribution" to peace and strengthening ties with Ukraine.

"I conveyed India's consistent position on the need for an early and peaceful resolution of the conflict. India remains committed to making every possible contribution in this regard, as well as to further strengthening bilateral ties with Ukraine," Modi wrote.

The Ministry of External Affairs said Modi reaffirmed New Delhi's "steadfast and consistent position" on the need for a peaceful resolution and reiterated India's willingness to "extend all possible support" in restoring peace. Zelenskyy took the opportunity to brief Modi on what he called escalating Russian attacks, including a missile strike on a civilian bus station in Zaporizhzhia that injured dozens. "Instead of demonstrating readiness for a ceasefire, Russia is showing only its desire to continue the occupation and killings," he said.

In a detailed post on X, Zelenskyy said he appreciated Modi's words of support, and stressed that any peace process must include Ukraine directly. "Other formats will not deliver results," he said, a pointed remark as President Donald Trump prepares to meet Russian President Vladimir Putin without Ukraine participation.

Zelenskyy also urged India to use its influence on Moscow, particularly by limiting Russian energy exports. "It is necessary to reduce its potential and ability to finance the continuation of this war," he said. "Every leader who has tangible leverage over Russia must send the right signals."

The two leaders agreed to meet in person next month on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly and are exploring an exchange of official visits.

With Trump and Putin set to meet in Alaska, Kyiv seems focused on ensuring its voice is not sidelined. Zelenskyy's outreach to Modi also reflects Ukraine's push to rally international support and pressure Moscow ahead of the talks.

'Take firmer stance on Russian energy exports'

Zelenskyy called for India to take a firmer position on Russian energy exports. "...it is necessary to limit the export of Russian energy, particularly oil, to reduce its potential and ability to finance the continuation of this war. It is important that every leader who has tangible leverage over Russia sends corresponding signals to Moscow."

'Reset ties, further downturn may be damaging for India'

BASANT S Sanghera is a seasoned US foreign policy expert with over a decade of experience in shaping strategic and defence ties with India. Formerly at the State Department, he played a key role in the US-India 2+2 Dialogue, worked on three presidential visits to India, and served as Director for India and the Indian Ocean at the National Security Council at the White House. Most recently, he served as Unit Chief on the India Desk at the State Department. Now Managing Principal at The Asia Group, he discusses with Jayanth Jacob the current dynamics and prospects of the bilateral relationship. Excerpts:

Beyond Trump's tariffs and possibly stalled trade talks, do you see the "defining" India-US ties hitting a wall? Or is there still light at the end of the tariff tunnel?
Over the last quarter of a century, the scope of the India-US ties has expanded significantly and demonstrated considerable resilience. There are now over three dozen working groups discussing issues ranging from maritime cooperation to cutting-edge technology.

India was heavily sanctioned after the 1998 nuclear tests, and it took significant diplomatic effort — led by Jaswant Singh (then External Affairs Minister) and Strobe Talbott (then US Deputy Secretary of State) — to repair the relationship and that engagement started within a matter of months.

Today, the ties face a serious crisis. The relationship urgently needs a reset. Any further downturn would be damaging for India. Trade negotiators have made considerable progress toward a potential deal, and a breakdown in relations would jeopardise that progress as well as the many other important equities in the relationship. There is a clear need for both repair and reset.

The additional tariff on Russian oil pushing the total to 50% adds to the economic burden and makes political repair more difficult for India. Does the narrow window Trump offered leave room to work out a solution?
The Russian angle should be de-hyphenated from the broader tariff equation. I believe both sides will find a way to work something out. Much will depend on the outcome of this week's talks in Alaska between President Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Both sides now need to assess what concessions are possible. India, too, has key defence purchases on the table, and there are already enough signals indicating a path forward. India may live with 25% tariff. And 50% is very tough. Again, both teams have negotiated a substantial trade package — the best in 78 years of diplomatic relations — and it would be tragic to lose out on such significant progress.

At this point, does it feel more like staring down a serious crisis than finding a clear path forward especially with Trump keeping at his claim of mediating during the India-Pakistan military standoff, a role India has firmly rejected?
Trump has been projecting himself as a global peace-maker — with several countries even backing his Nobel Peace Prize ambitions. He isn't receiving the kind of endorsement from India that he's gotten from Pakistan, Israel's Prime Minister, or the leaders of both Azerbaijan and Armenia.

From his perspective, India's silence is seen as a lack of acknowledgment, or lack of gratitude or perhaps even disrespect. A simple recognition that Trump exerted pressure on Pakistan might have gone a long way. But India remains firm in rejecting any hyphenation with Pakistan.

President Trump and PM Narendra Modi share a strong personal rapport. Do you think there was a missed opportunity to better leverage that relationship?
I don't think the personal rapport between the two leaders is damaged. But there should have been more frequent communication between the two — especially after the Pahalgam attack. Unfortunately, that didn't happen. Even now, a conversation between them could create the right opportunity to find a way forward.

Perhaps President Trump acknowledging India's Independence Day or the two leaders connecting after the Putin-Trump meeting.

Trump has three years left in the White House, and both sides need to find fixes for their problems to enable a meaningful repair and reset.

Bills cleared amid ruckus over SIR in Lok Sabha

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE government on Monday passed two crucial bills, the National Sports Governance Bill and the National Anti-Doping (Amendment) Bill, in the Lok Sabha amid Opposition protests over the revision of electoral rolls in Bihar.

The bills were passed by a voice vote without any discussion. The Opposition members were not present in the House when the bills were introduced for consideration and passage, as most of them had been detained while marching towards the EC headquarters against the SIR exercise and alleged voter-data fudging.

In the Lok Sabha, amid opposition sloganeering, Sports Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said, "It is the single biggest reform in sports since independence. This Bill will ensure accountability, ensure justice, and best governance in sports federations." After two ruling party members spoke about the Bill, the opposition members returned to the House and started raising slogans.

"It will have massive significance in India's sports ecosystem. Unfortunately, such an important bill and reform does not have the Opposition's participation," the minister said.

Opposition members protest in the Lok Sabha during Monsoon session | PTI

Earlier, chairman of the parliamentary panel on sports, Digvijaya Singh, requested Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla to refer the National Sports Governance Bill to the panel. He felt that the Bill should be examined and discussed before Parliament takes it up.

The sports governance bill has provisions for a National Sports Board (NSB) to create a stringent system of accountability. All recognised national sports bodies would also come under the ambit of the RTI Act, something that the BCCI has vehemently opposed since it is not dependent on government funding. However, the cricket board has got some leeway on that front with the government amending the Bill to ensure that RTI would be applicable only on bodies that rely on government funding or support.

The Opposition has raised concerns that the Bill may violate the autonomy of NSFs and the IOA. They have also flagged the ambiguity on the role and regulation of state Olympic associations and state sports federations.

The National Anti-Doping (Amendment) Bill-2025 seeks to incorporate the changes sought by the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), which objected to "government interference" in the functioning of the country's Anti-Doping Agency (NADA). The act was initially passed in 2022, but its implementation had to be put on hold due to objections raised by WADA.

SHOW OF OPPN UNITY AT KHARGE DINNER PARTY, AAP JOINS

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

HOURS after the protest march to the Election Commission (EC) headquarters over the voter roll revision in Bihar and alleged 'vote theft', Congress leader Mallikarjun Kharge hosted a dinner party for the INDIA bloc leaders. In a sign of thaw, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), despite not being a part of the INDIA bloc, joined the dinner. AAP leaders also attended the protest march to the EC office earlier in the day.

Several leaders from the 25 opposition bloc parties were present at the meeting, including Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, Priyanaka Gandhi Vadra, NCP-SP chief Sharad Pawar, SP's Dimple Yadav, Jaya Bachchan, DMK's Kanimozhi, CPI(M)'s John Brittas and AAP's Sanjay Singh, Sandeep Pathak, and Ashok Kumar Mittal.

The meeting assumes significance as the Opposition leaders took out a protest march on Monday from Parliament to the EC against the revision of electoral rolls in Bihar and alleged "vote chori" but were stopped midway by the police and detained amid high drama.

Kharge, who was also detained during the march, said the protest against 'vote chori' and SIR is a fight to protect people's right to vote and a struggle to save democracy. In a post on X, he said, "BJP's cowardly dictatorship will not work! This is a fight to protect the people's right to vote."

'Conspiracy will be exposed'

"The allies of the INDIA bloc will surely expose this BJP conspiracy to shred the Constitution," Kharge said in a post on X. While the protest march and detention of the MPs are expected to further bolster the unity of the INDIA bloc, the dinner meeting also comes on the heels of a show of unity when Rahul Gandhi hosted a dinner for the leaders at his residence.

SC orders commissioning of woman into Army as JAG, slams gender cap

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday ordered the induction of petitioner Arshnoor Kaur, to be commissioned in the JAG (Judge Advocate General) post in the Indian Army, while questioning the Union government for allocating fewer posts for women, despite claiming the posts to be gender neutral.

"No nation can be secure if such policies are followed. The executive cannot reserve vacancies for men. The seats (distribution) – six for men and three for women – is arbitrary and cannot be allowed under the guise of induction. The true meaning of gender neutrality and the 2023 rules is that Union shall select the most meritorious candidates. Restricting the seats of women is violative of right to equality," said, a two-judge bench of the top court comprising Justice Dipankar Datta, and Justice Manmohan.

Granting relief to the petitioner, the top court directed the Centre to conduct recruitment in the aforesaid manner and publish a combined merit list for all candidates, including men and women aspirants.

The court rejected the submissions of Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati, representing the Centre, that the JAG posts are gender neutral and follows a 50:50 selection ratio from 2023 onwards.

The judgment came in a writ petition challenging the disproportionate vacancies for men and women in JAG posts. The petitioners claimed they could not be selected due to fewer vacancies earmarked for women.

The court on Monday said the "devil is not in the law" but "in the abuse" of provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) as it refused to examine a plea by former Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel. The bench refused to examine the validity of Section 44 of the PMLA, saying an stay cannot be put on unravelling evidences.

Medha Patkar's conviction upheld

In a major setback to Narmada Bachao Andolan activist Medha Patkar – held guilty in a defamation case filed by Delhi L-G V K Saxena – the Supreme Court on Monday refused to intervene in the Delhi High Court order upholding the trial court conviction. The top court, however, set aside the penalty of ₹1 lakh imposed upon Patkar.

Judiciary, media act as checks on executive: Ex-CJI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

FORMER Chief Justice of India Sanjiv Khanna on Monday underlined the shared duty of the judiciary and the media in safeguarding democracy, stressing that both institutions must remain "fair and fearless" to preserve public trust.

Delivering the Prem Bhatia Memorial Lecture 2025 on the theme 'Judiciary and Media: Shared Principles – Similarities and Dissimilarities', Khanna said judiciary and the press act as vital checks on the executive and on social wrongs, with their legitimacy stemming not from elections but from public confidence. "Our institutions must operate without fear, bias or prejudice," he said.

He cautioned against dangers of "toxic news" – reporting coloured by prejudice, bias or polarisation – and urged the media to maintain a healthy "traffic of ideas" to keep the democratic discourse vibrant.

Observers shut out as overflow rooms close amid crucial plastics treaty talks

TNIE in Switzerland
S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@ GENEVA

AS the second week — the make-or-break phase — of the global plastics treaty negotiations gets underway in Geneva, observers are sounding the alarm over being shut out of the talks.

On Monday, the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee (INC) Secretariat closed the overflow rooms used by observers to follow contact group negotiations, cutting off a vital access point for the 1,800 registered observers at INC-5.2.

The move comes on top of already limited space in the contact group rooms themselves — much of it occupied by industry representatives — making the overflow rooms essential for civil society, scientists, and frontline communities to monitor proceedings.

When some observers raised the issue with the INC Secretariat, they were told the closure was temporary and would be resolved soon. But few are convinced. "We know exactly how many observers have registered and how critical this stage is," an observer told TNIE. "Adequate arrangements should have been made. This isn't an unforeseen problem — it's a choice."

Dharmesh Shah, Senior Campaigner at the Centre for International Environmental Law, said despite UNEA resolution 5/14 calling for the "widest possible participation", observers are repeatedly shut out of contact groups due to alleged space restraints, with inadequate rooms, poor connectivity, and no effective overflow arrangements. "Observers provide lived experience, technical knowledge, and legal expertise. We also serve as watchdogs for what transpires on the floor. Transparency provides legitimacy, something this treaty desperately needs," he said.

Observers say the timing of the shutdown could not be worse. The second week of talks is where countries hammer out compromises on contentious issues such as production limits, AND chemical controls. UNEP confirmed on Monday that 70 ministers or their deputies, along with 30 other representatives, are registered to join the talks on Tuesday and Wednesday. "If you're not in the room — or at least able to watch — you can't hold negotiators accountable," said Bjorn Beeler, Executive Director of International Pollutants Elimination Network (IPEN).

The INC has resolved the issue by allocating part of Assembly Hall as a CG overflow room, AND USING the Observer room as an overflow space.

L-G can nominate members to J&K House: MHA tells HC

Says govt's advice not needed; parties call it assault on democracy

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has informed the Jammu and Kashmir High Court that the Lieutenant Governor can nominate five members to the Assembly without advice of the elected government in the Union Territory, evoking strong resentment from the NC, PDP and the Congress.

Congress leader Ravindra Sharma, who has filed the petition in the court challenging the constitutionality of nominations by the LG, said they would file a rejoinder on the next day of hearing on August 14."The nomination of five members to J&K Assembly was outside the realm of business of the elected government. Once Parliament bylaw recognises Lt Governor as a distinct authority from the government of UT, it necessarily follows that when a power is conferred upon the LG, then the same must be exercised as a statutory function... without aid and advice (of the elected government)," said the MHA affidavit filed in the HC

As per the J&K Reorganisation Act 2019, the LG can nominate five members to the Assembly, including two women, two from migrant Kashmir Pandits, one of whom has to be a woman, and a member from displaced community from PoJK. The five nominated members will have voting rights.

After the formation of the Omar Abdullah-led government, NC, Congress, PDP and other parties have been stressing that LG should nominate five members to Assembly only on recommendation of the elected government.

Reacting to the MHA affidavit, J&K Congress chief spokesman Ravindra Sharma, who filed the petition in October last year, said, "such nominations can turn a minority into a majority or a majority into a minority, which goes against the basic structure of the Constitution."

PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti said nowhere else in the country does the Centre handpick legislators to override the public mandate. "In India's only Muslim-majority region, long marred by conflict, this move feels less like governance and more like control...," Mehbooba posted on X. "Hope @OmarAbdullah government rises to the occasion by challenging this undemocratic precedent," she said.

NC chief spokesman Tanvir Sadiq said, "It strikes at the heart of parliamentary democracy, ignores the constitutional spirit of aid & advice..."

Pak intruder shot dead in Kathua; terror hideout busted in ops

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

BSF personnel shot dead a Pakistani intruder along the International Border (IB) in the Kathua district on Monday.

A BSF spokesperson said the intruder was noticed in the early evening between Chandwan and Kothey border outposts in the Hiranagar sector of Kathua. "A Pakistani national was observed crossing the International Border and approaching aggressively towards the border fence in Kathua," he said.

The spokesman said the BSF men warned the intruder, but he paid no heed. "Sensing a threat, the BSF men fired on the intruder's legs. The injured person was captured and evacuated to the nearest Hospital, where he succumbed," he said.

The BSF is lodging a protest with the Pakistani Rangers over the incident. The intruder's identity and motive are being probed. Meanwhile, a joint anti-terror operation in the forest area of Dul Kishtwar to flush out two local Hizb militants, Riyaz Ahmad and Mudassar Hazari, continued for the second day. Sources said during the operation, security forces busted a terrorist hideout in a natural cave in the forest area. Further, a larger ongoing search operation in the Akhal forest area of Kulgam entered its 11th day. Forces suspect the presence of terrorists there.

'No support': Families of AI-171 crash victims take Boeing battle to US courts

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

SOME grieving families of the AI-171 plane crash victims are preparing for a legal battle on American soil, where stringent product liability laws may finally hold global giants like Boeing to account. They are forced to take this step because of the government's alleged silence and Air India's opacity, they claim.

One of them is Trupti Soni, the sister of deceased passenger Swapnil Soni, who cuts through the fog of official silence. "We are filing a case in America because this could be a product liability case," she declares, eyes steeled by grief. "American laws are stringent about product liability. But before that, we need the truth, and for that, we need data. We've had no support from the Indian government."

Their demands are pointed: full access to the flight data recorder (FDR) and cockpit voice recorder (CVR). Without this, they say, no investigation official or independent can be trusted. Their suspicion runs deep: What if the data is filtered? What if the truth is buried under corporate interests and state complicity? Behind their growing mistrust looms a billion-dollar question: Did the aircraft fail them?

Enter Mike Andrews, a heavyweight in aviation litigation, flown in from the US to evaluate the path forward. His track record speaks volumes – he has taken on Ford, Volkswagen, and aircraft manufacturers alike. Now, he stands with over 65 victim families. "We've been asked to understand what happened, why it happened, and what legal avenues exist," Andrews says, bluntly. "If the black box shows a defect, say, in the FADEC system or throttle control, this could open the door to a product liability case against Boeing in the US"

Andrews explains the stakes: "Since this aircraft was manufactured in the United States, the victims' families must have a voice there. US law levels the field. One person can challenge a giant and win."

First giraffe in Ranchi zoo after 9-year wait

A six-year-old female northern giraffe, Misty, and a pair of silver pheasants have been brought to Bhagwan Birsa Biological Park in Ranchi as part of an inter-zoo animal exchange programme with Alipore Zoological Garden, Kolkata. Zoo authorities consider this a significant milestone. Northern giraffes are primarily found in protected areas across East and Central Africa, such as Kenya, South Sudan, Niger, and the Central African Republic. This significant addition marks the end of a nine-year attempt, during which technical hurdles delayed the introduction of giraffes to the Ranchi Zoo. The exchange took place on August 7.

Ganga crosses danger mark in Sahibganj

As the Ganga River crosses the danger mark in Sahibganj, all government and private schools located in the district's flood-prone or low-lying areas have been closed till Tuesday. About 50 relief camps have also been set up to deal with any untoward situations. According to an official estimate, at least 20,000 people are affected due to the flood-like situation. The water level in the Ganga was recorded at 28.61 meters on Monday against the danger level of 27.25 metres. Out of the total 28 wards of the Sahibganj Municipal Council, floods have completely affected 11 wards, and more remain vulnerable.

FIR against BJP MPs for 'forced entry' to temple

BJP MPs Nishikant Dubey and Manoj Tiwari and others have been named in an FIR for "forcibly" gaining entry into the sanctum sanctorum of the Baba Baidyanath temple in Deoghar, allegedly causing fear and panic among thousands of devotees who were present there. The Jharkhand police say the FIR, filed on the basis of a complaint by a temple priest, Kartik Nath Thakur, was registered for their entry into the inner sanctum on August 2 despite a restriction on the entry of VIP or VVIPs during the 'Shravan' month, when the temple sees a significant influx of devotees. Further investigation into the matter is currently under way.

Former jathedar elected chief of SAD faction

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FORMER Akal Takht acting Jathedar and Takht Damdama Sahib Jathedar Giani Harpreet Singh was on Monday unanimously elected president of the breakaway faction of the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD). Satwant Kaur was appointed chairperson of the Panthak Council.

The Akal Takht-appointed committee held the delegate session of the breakaway group of the SAD at Gurdwara Burj Akali Phoola Singh in Amritsar. Issuing a clarion call to revive the original Akali Dal of 1920, the panel announced that Harpreet Singh would not contest elections. The elected heads claim to represent the original Akali Dal and intend to approach the Election Commission of India (ECI) for ratification. The faction claims it is the rebirth of the "real" SAD, suggesting an open challenge to the authority of ex-CM Sukhbir Singh Badal, whose leadership of the party—these "rebels" contend—plunged the regional force into a crisis.

Notably, during this election, ex-SGPC presidents Bibi Jagir Kaur and Gobind Singh Longowal, along with Prem Singh Chandumajra, were present.

C'garh HC relief for cop who faced social boycott over inter-caste marriage

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

A distressed Chhattisgarh Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) Mekhlendra Pratap Singh, facing social boycott from his community for marrying a woman of his choice, has lodged an FIR in his home town of Bilaspur, claiming that his marriage was conducted according to social traditions.

Singh, 35, who hails from the 'Satgarh Tanwar' community (Scheduled Tribe), is posted in Kanker district, where he is engaged in the ongoing anti-Maoist operations. He is being boycotted despite his claims that his wife belongs to the same tribal caste.

The leaders of his community have got further agitated after a case was registered against them and approached the high court arguing that the FIR was lodged on baseless grounds. They also alleged harassment by police with repeated notices served to them.

In response, the Chhattisgarh HC has rebuked the community leaders, warning them not to act like a Khap panchayat and dismissed their petition. But the community leaders remain adamant to continue their diktat and my entire family is ostracised, the DSP said.

The police officer has written to the school education department, seeking appropriate action against the two senior community leaders who are working as a principal and a senior teacher in different schools, terming their behavior "against the Chhattisgarh Civil Services (Conduct) Rules 1965." The police officer is married to Amisha Singh, a girl from north Chhattisgarh's Sarguja district.

200 gang-rape, 600 sexual harassment cases in 6 months

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

OVER 200 gang rape cases and rape-murder of five girls were registered in Rajasthan between January and June this year, police data shows, spotlighting a rise in crimes against minors and young girls.

The data released by the state police headquarters on Monday also reveals more than 600 reported cases of sexual harassment, highlighting a growing threat to women's safety across the state.

In all, 19,600 criminal cases involving atrocities against women, including crimes related to dowry harassment, were registered until June this year. Police investigations led to charge sheets being filed in 5,359 cases. However, 4,790 cases resulted in FIRs being filed, of which 4,613 were later closed as false. The police failed to investigate 9,451 cases.

As many as 1,631 cases under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (Pocso) Act were registered, according to the police data. Of these, 186 were found to be false, and FIRs were filed in 14 cases for other reasons. Chargesheets were submitted in 744 cases, while investigations are ongoing in 707.

The disclosure of the figures has triggered a political controversy in the state. Former CM Ashok Gehlot took to Twitter to question the government. "What is happening, Chief Minister? Please pay attention," he wrote. Referring to the murder of a woman in Ajmer by her husband, a BJP leader, on Raksha Bandhan, Gehlot accused the government of failing to maintain law and order.

In response, BJP Social Justice and Empowerment Minister Avinash Gehlot condemned the politicisation of crimes against women. "It is very unfortunate to use crimes against women as a political tool. There has been a 10% reduction in criminal cases under the Bhajanlal government, which shows how seriously we take women's safety compared to the previous administration. It is regrettable that Congress leaders are politicising a woman's death," the minister said.

"Escalating crime rates and political dispute underline the urgent need for effective measures to protect women and minors in Rajasthan," an activist said. "Families are increasingly worried, with many parents expressing fears in sending their daughters to schools or colleges," he said.

After 'Dog Babu', 'Cat Kumar' seeks ID proof

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AFTER 'Dog Babu', 'Sonalika Tractor' and 'Donald Trump', yet another case of fake application has emerged in Bihar. This time, the application seeks a residential certificate for a cat.

The Rohtas district administration has received a request from an applicant named 'Cat Kumar', listing 'Catty Boss' as the father and 'Catiya Devi' as the mother.

District Magistrate (DM), Rohtas, Udita Singh ordered an investigation soon after the matter came to her notice. "I have already asked the revenue officer of Nasariganj to register an FIR against unknown persons and initiate investigation," the DM said on Monday.

She confirmed that an FIR has been registered at Nasariganj police station against unknown persons under relevant sections of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS).

"I assure you that action would be taken against the applicant as per law," she asserted. DM Singh said that though application with photo of a canine was submitted on July 29, it the authority concerned noticed it only on August 10. On Singh's directive, Nasariganj police registered a case under sections 132, 61 (B), 318 (4) of BNS.

Rahul Kumar, a sub-inspector of police, said that investigation has been launched to ascertain how the system accepted the application and who was responsible.

Rohtas DM orders probe

The Rohtas district administration has received a request from an applicant named 'Cat Kumar', listing 'Catty Boss' as the father and 'Catiya Devi' as the mother. Rohtas DM Udita Singh ordered an investigation soon after the matter came to her notice. "I have already asked the revenue officer of Nasariganj to register an FIR against unknown persons and initiate investigation," the DM said on Monday.

Revenue Officer, Nasariganj, Kaushal Patel said that the application for residence certificate was received at RTPS office. He said that the case has been lodged against the applicant for obstructing government work, hatching a conspiracy and misusing technology.

The bizarre incident comes just week after two similar hoax submissions—one in Patna from an applicant named 'Dog Babu' and another in East Champaran from 'Sonalika Tractor'. A similar application was submitted in Samastipur where applicant named 'Donald Trump' had applied for a residence certificate.

Under the Bihar Right to Public Service (RTPS) Act, residents can apply online for official documents, which are then verified by designated officers before being issued to the applicants. However, government officials noticed a surge in such applications after Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls started in the state.

Residence certificate is among the 11 forms of identification accepted by the Election Commission for voters' revision.

Meanwhile, district authorities have urged people not to misuse online system. "The government has taken a strong exception to such applications and directed the district officials to take stern action against the accused," a senior officer posted in general administration department said.

42 arrests made, int'l nexus identified as Op Falcon saves Assam rhinos: CM

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Assam government has achieved significant success in protecting the one-horned rhinos—the pride of the state—from poachers since the launch of 'Operation Falcon', an effort of the state Police and the forest department last year.

CM Himanta Biswa Sarma on Monday shared an official video of the operation on X. The video highlights that coordination and spirit of the personnel led to the arrest of 42 poachers – 18 in Biswanath, eight in Darrang, six in Nagaon, five in Karbi Anglong, two in Sonitpur and one each in Udalguri, Dibrugarh and Cachar districts. "Poachers were tracked through extensive use of on-ground and digital intelligence," it noted.

Through this operation, the authorities identified international and interstate nexus. Six major rhino-poaching gangs, linked to illegal trade through Myanmar, were also uncovered, while nine rhino poaching attempts were foiled, as per the video. On the World Rhino Day last year, Sarma had stated that the poaching of the animal dropped by 86% since the BJP rose to power in 2016.

According to the rhino census of 2022, Assam has 2,895 rhinos – 2,613 of them in the 1,300 sq km Kaziranga National Park & Tiger Reserve. Orang National Park and Tiger Reserve, Pobitora Wildlife Sanctuary, and Manas National Park and Tiger Reserve have 125, 107 and 50 rhinos, respectively.

Rhinos are killed for their horns. A single horn could fetch ₹5-10 crore from international black market

WHAT IS OPERATION FALCON?

Operation Falcon is a collaborative effort of police and forest departments

It was launched last year after the killings of 2 rhinos prompted authorities a rethink in anti-poaching strategy

Saving rhinos was a key Assam poll promise of BJP in 2016. The BJP opened the gateway to the Northeast by winning in Assam that year

Assam has 2,895 rhinos – 2,613 in Kaziranga. Orang Park, Pobitora sanctuary and Manas have 125, 107 and 50, respectively

Efforts led to the arrest of 42 poachers. International and interstate nexus were identified. Six rhino-poaching gangs linked to illegal trade were also identified

Gazans mourn Al Jazeera journalists killed by Israeli forces

Forty people, included aid-seekers, perish in Gaza Strip; global condemnation for killing of scribe; Israel maintains al-Sharif had Hamas link

GAZA STRIP

ISRAELI forces killed at least 40 people across the Gaza Strip overnight and into Monday, including a well-known journalist, according to local health officials. The Al Jazeera correspondent and others were killed in airstrikes after press advocates said an Israeli "smear campaign" stepped up when Anas al-Sharif, the deceased journalist, cried on air over starvation in the territory.

Israel's military asserted that al-Sharif had led a Hamas cell — an allegation that Al Jazeera and al-Sharif previously dismissed as baseless.

It was the first time during the 22-month war that Israel's military swiftly claimed responsibility after a journalist was killed in a strike. Observers have called this the deadliest conflict for journalists in modern times. Officials at Shifa Hospital said those killed while sheltering outside Gaza City's largest hospital complex also included Al Jazeera correspondent Mohamed Qreiqeh. The strike also killed four other journalists and two other people, hospital administrative director Rami Mohanna told AP. The strike damaged the entrance to the hospital complex's emergency building.

The airstrike came less than a year after Israeli army officials first accused al-Sharif and other Al Jazeera journalists of being members of the militant groups Hamas and Islamic Jihad. In a July 24 video, Israel's army spokesperson Avichay Adraee attacked Al Jazeera and accused al-Sharif of being part of Hamas' military wing.

Al Jazeera called the strike a "targeted assassination" and accused Israeli officials of incitement, connecting al-Sharif's death to the allegations that both the network and correspondent had denied.

"Anas and his colleagues were among the last remaining voices from within Gaza, providing the world with unfiltered, on-the-ground coverage of the devastating realities endured by its people," the Qatari network said in a statement.

Al-Sharif reported a nearby bombardment minutes before his death. "I never hesitated for a single day to convey the truth as it is, without distortion or falsification," the 28-year-old wrote on X two days ago.

Hundreds of people, including many journalists, gathered Monday to mourn al-Sharif, Qreiqeh and their colleagues. The bodies lay wrapped in white sheets at the Shifa Hospital complex. Hospital officials reported that at least 34 people were killed on Monday, not including journalists who were slain in a tent shortly before midnight. Among the dead were at least 12 aid seekers killed by Israeli gunfire while trying to reach distribution points, or awaiting aid convoys, according to officials at two hospitals and witnesses. In a July broadcast, al-Sharif had cried on air as a woman behind him collapsed from hunger. AP

Australia to recognise a Palestinian state

Canberra: On Monday, Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese added his country to a list moving toward recognition, along with France, Britain and Canada, of Palestine as a state. His government's decision aimed to build momentum toward a two-state solution, which he called the best path to ending violence and bringing leadership other than Hamas to Gaza. 'The situation in Gaza has gone beyond the world's worst fears,' he said. 'The Israeli government continues to defy international law and deny sufficient aid, food and water to desperate people, including children.' "A two-state solution is humanity's best hope to break the cycle of violence in the Middle East and to bring an end to the, suffering and starvation."

Trump deploys National Guards in DC to 'control crime and homelessness'

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Donald Trump said Monday he's placing the Washington DC police department under federal control and deploying the National Guard to make the nation's capital safer.Trump has promised new steps to tackle homelessness and crime in Washington, prompting the city's mayor to voice concerns about the potential use of the National Guard to patrol the streets. Ahead of a news conference, Trump said Monday on social media that the nation's capital would be "LIBERATED today!" He said he would end the "days of ruthlessly killing, or hurting, innocent people. is promising new steps to tackle homelessness and crime in Washington, prompting the city's mayor to voice concerns about the potential use of the National Guard to patrol the streets in the nation's capital.

Trump wrote in a social media post that he would hold a White House news conference on Monday to discuss his plans to make the District of Columbia "safer and more beautiful than it ever was before." For Trump, the effort to take over public safety in Washington reflects a next step in his law enforcement agenda after his aggressive push to stop illegal border crossings. Trump has used his social media and White House megaphones to stress that he will get rid of crime in the federal district, but it not clear how his push would address the root causes of homelessness and crime.

About 500 federal law enforcement officers are being deployed throughout the nation's capital. Trump had stressed on the removal of Washington's homeless population. AP

US now working on Don-Putin-Zelenskyy meeting, says Vance

WASHINGTON

THE United States was working to "schedule" a meeting between Donald Trump and his Russian and Ukrainian counterparts, Vice President JD Vance said in comments broadcast Sunday, as Ukraine's European allies pushed for Kyiv's presence at the US-Russia summit in Alaska this week.

JD Vance

"One of the most important logjams is that Vladimir Putin said that he would never sit down with (Volodymyr) Zelenskyy, the head of Ukraine, and the president has now got that to change," Vance said during an interview on Fox News program "Sunday Morning Futures."

"We're at a point now where we're trying to figure out, frankly, scheduling and things like that around when these three leaders could sit down and discuss an end to this conflict," Vance said when asked about his expectations for the Alaska summit on August 15.

The vice president, in an interview conducted ahead of last week's announcement that the US and Russian presidents would meet this Friday, said the United States was going to "try to find some negotiated settlement that the Ukrainians and Russians can live with."

Vance added: "It's not going to make anybody super happy, both the Russians and the Ukrainians probably at the end of the day are going to be unhappy with it."

The planned US-Russia summit in Alaska without Zelensky had raised concerns that a deal would require Kyiv to cede territory, which the European Union has rejected.

US Ambassador to NATO Matthew Whitaker suggested on CNN that Zelensky could attend the summit.

He was asked whether Zelenskyy might join Trump and Putin on Friday.

"Yes, I certainly think it's possible," he said. "Certainly, there can't be a deal that everybody that's involved in it doesn't agree to. And, I mean, obviously, it's a high priority to get this war to end." AFP

EU says US-Russia summit can't decide Ukraine land swaps

BRUSSELS

UKRAINE and its backers in Europe insist that the United States and Russia cannot decide on land swaps behind their backs at a summit this week, but the Europeans concede that Moscow is unlikely to give up control of Ukrainian land it holds.

Ahead of the summit in Alaska on Friday, US President Donald Trump suggested that a peace deal could include "some swapping of territories," but the Europeans see no sign that Russia will offer anything to swap. Europeans and Ukrainians so far are not invited to the summit.

European Union foreign ministers are meeting on Monday following talks on Ukraine among U.S. and European security advisers over the weekend. They are concerned that President Vladimir Putin will try to claim a political victory by portraying Ukraine as inflexible.

Kaja Kallas

Concerns have mounted in Europe and Ukraine that Kyiv may be pressed to give up land or accept other curbs on its sovereignty. Ukraine and its European allies reject the notion that Putin should lay claim to any territory even before agreeing to a ceasefire.

"As we work towards a sustainable and just peace, international law is clear: All temporarily occupied territories belong to Ukraine," EU foreign policy chief Kaja Kallas said ahead of the ministerial meeting.

"A sustainable peace also means that aggression cannot be rewarded," Kallas said.

Polish Prime Minister Donald Tusk said "state borders cannot be changed by force." Any land swaps or peace terms "must be agreed upon with Ukraine's participation."

On Sunday, Chancellor Friedrich Merz said Germany would not accept that territorial issues be decided by Russia and US "over the heads" of Europeans. AP

Lok Sabha passes new I-T Bill amid stir over SIR issue

Provision that allowed refunds only if return filed on time removed

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha on Monday passed the new Income Tax Bill without any debate, amid opposition protests over the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls. The government tabled a revised version of the Bill incorporating most of the recommendations made by the Select Committee.

The original draft had ambiguities regarding house property taxation, pension deductions, and the refund process for delayed filings. The revised Bill addresses these issues.

The most significant change is the removal of a provision in the earlier draft that would have allowed tax refunds only if a return was filed on or before the due date.

"Recognising the potential for this to cause undue hardship and create ambiguity, the newly introduced Bill has completely omitted this restrictive clause," said Amit Maheshwari, Tax Partner at AKM Global.

The Bill also clarifies that the standard deduction when computing income from house property will be calculated after deducting municipal taxes. It further removes ambiguity around the deduction of pre-construction interest for let-out properties.

It introduces income-tax exemptions for specific payouts under the new Unified Pension Scheme, including exemptions for partial withdrawals and lump-sum receipts. "This move is aimed at enhancing the attractiveness and utility of the pension system for subscribers," Maheshwari added.

The new version also removes the contentious provision for levying Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) on LLPs. "The provisions of AMT apply only to those non-corporates that have claimed deductions. LLPs with only capital gains income are not liable for AMT if there is no claim for deduction," a CBDT source said.

AMT is levied on a corporate whose tax liability becomes zero or much lower than normal taxes after claiming deductions allowed under the Income Tax Act. According to Dinesh Kanabar, CEO of Dhruva Advisors, the Bill also seeks to reinstate capital gains tax reinvestment provisions and restore the option for charitable trusts to spend funds in the succeeding year. "The utilisation of capital gains on the acquisition of a new capital asset shall be treated as application of income by a registered non-profit organisation, as was the case under the Income-tax Act, 1961," a tax department official said.

Meanwhile, tax experts lament that the government has ignored several industry suggestions. "The government could have considered extending tax benefits to holding companies set up prior to 2021, allowing reinvestment of dividend income within a group without triggering double taxation, and extending tax exemptions to indirect share transfers," said Rajesh Gandhi, Partner, Deloitte India.

'Banks can decide minimum balance'

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

WHILE the Reserve Bank on Monday washed its hands off the issue of five-fold increase in average monthly minimum balance requirement that ICICI Bank has introduced on new non-salary accounts — from ₹10,000 in rural branches to a high of ₹50,000 in metro branches from this month saying the subject is not within the regulatory purview of the central bank — netizens express their displeasure over the issue on social media platform X.

Addressing financial inclusion event in Gujarat, governor Sanjay Malhotra on Monday told reporters "the RBI has left it to banks to charge or not to charge penalty on not having minimum balance in a savings account, and so this doesn't fall under regulatory domain".

"Some banks have kept it at ₹10,000, some have it at ₹2,000 and some have even waived it off. This is not in the RBI's regulatory domain," ge added.

While the new rates raised five times to ₹50,000 from ₹10,000 for metro customers, it is ₹25,000 on semi-urban branches, up from ₹5,000 and for rural branches this will be ₹10,000, up from ₹2,500. The bank said it will impose a penal charge of 6% of the deficit amount or ₹500.

Others like HDFC Bank, Axis Bank, Kotak Bank have ₹10,000 as minimum balance requirement in metros and much lower amount in rural and semi urban branches while SBI, Bank of India, Union Bank, Bank of Baroda and other state-run banks have no MAB requirements.

"Majority of us earn below ₹25,000 monthly. So ICICI Bank wants them to keep two months' salary as minimum balance in their account," wrote an X user. Another user wrote, "every bank should have a basic savings account without any requirement of balance." Another person said, "₹50,000 is two-three months' income for millions of us. In rural India, ₹10,000 is the difference between survival and debt. The role of banks should be financial inclusion."

Jute items from B'desh via land route banned

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA @ New Delhi

INDIA on Monday added more jute products to the list of banned imports from Bangladesh through all land routes, amid strained relations between the two countries.

The products added in the list are bleached and unbleached woven fabrics of Jute or of other textile bast fibre; twine, cordage, rope of jute; and sacks and bags of jute. However, as per a notification of the Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT), these imports are allowed through the Nhava Sheva Seaport. "Imports from Bangladesh shall not be allowed from any land port on the India-Bangladesh Border," it said, adding, "Import of certain goods from Bangladesh to India is regulated with immediate effect."

July inflation may fall below 2% for first time since Jan 2019 on softer food prices

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

RETAIL inflation in July is likely to have fallen below 2% for the first time since January 2019. Analysts expect the figure to be in the range of 1.2–1.4%, aided by a favourable base effect and softer food prices. Retail inflation in June eased to 2.1% from 2.82% in May. In January 2019, it had touched a low of 1.97%.

"We expect July CPI inflation to ease further to 1.35%, led by a favourable base effect and overall softer food prices, even as vegetable prices are likely to see a seasonal, sharp sequential rise," said Madhavi Arora, Chief Economist at Emkay Global.

ICRA's Aditi Nayar has pegged July retail inflation at 1.4%, while Yuvika Oberoi of QuantEco Research estimates it at 1.19%. Economists at DBS Bank expect it to be around 1.3%. "We expect a strong base for food items to compress the headline CPI inflation to a series-low 1.4% in July 2025. This is likely to be the trough, with a subsequent upmove broadly in line with the quarterly estimates provided by the MPC," Nayar said.

Radhika Rao, executive director and senior economist at DBS Bank, said much of the moderation in price pressures is food-led, followed by ex-gold services. "Base effects have also played a dominant role, reflected in the second month of contraction in the food and beverages segment, even as sequential momentum rises due to seasonal, monsoon-related supply vagaries," she added.

Core inflation, however, is expected to remain above 4%, lifted by precious metals. Analysts caution that as base effects fade, headline inflation could return above 4% by early 2026. In its August monetary policy statement, the Reserve Bank of India lowered its FY26 inflation estimate to 3.1% from 3.7%, but said CPI inflation is likely to edge up above 4% by Q4 FY26 and beyond, as base effects reverse and demand-side pressures build.

PROPOSAL

Sebi plans to allow residents to take part in FPIs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

CAPITAL markets regulator Sebi has proposed facilitating greater participation of resident Indians in the foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) framework by expanding the role of Indian non-individuals and mutual funds in international investment structures.

"It is proposed to enable retail schemes based in IFSCs (International Financial Services Centres) in the country with resident Indian non-individuals as sponsor/manager to register as FPIs," Securities and Exchange Board (Sebi) said in its consultation paper, which was released on Monday and has sought public comments till August 29 on the proposals.

The regulator has also suggested that allowing retail schemes based in IFSCs with resident Indian non-individuals as sponsors or managers can be registered as FPIs. The Sebi has also proposed that the term "sponsor or manager" for IFSC-based FPIs may be replaced with "fund management entity (FME) or its associate".

It said overseas mutual funds/unit trusts registering as FPIs may be allowed to include Indian mutual funds as constituents. Under FPI regulations, non-resident Indians (NRIs), overseas citizens of India (OCIs) or resident Indians are not eligible to register as FPIs.

Adani Defence, Prime Aero acquire MRO service firm Indamer Technics

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ADANI Defence Systems and Technologies (ADSTL), through its venture Horizon Aero Solutions, in partnership with Prime Aero Services, has signed an agreement to acquire 100% stake in maintenance, repair, and operations (MRO) service provider Indamer Technics (ITPL). Financial details of the transaction have not been made available.

Horizon is a 50-50 partnership between ADSTL and Prime Aero, a company owned by Prajay Patel, director of Indamer Technics. Located at Nagpur in MIHAN special economic zone (SEZ), ITPL has set up a facility on a 30-acre site. The facility has capacity to accommodate 15 aircraft bays across 10 hangars. ITPL is approved by the DGCA, FAA (USA) and other global civil aviation regulators. It offers a comprehensive suite of MRO services, including lease return checks, heavy C-checks, structural repairs, and aircraft painting to leading Indian and global customers.

"Indian aviation industry has seen an unprecedented transformation, becoming the third largest in terms of passenger traffic. With the Indian carriers set to induct over 1,500 aircraft in coming years, we are on the cusp of a new era in aviation" said Jeet Adani, director, Adani Airports. "This acquisition is the next step in our push to establish India as a premier global MRO destination...Our goal is to create a single-point aviation services platform that is driven by world-class quality standards and customer satisfaction," added Adani. Ashish Rajvanshi, CEO, Adani Defence & Aerospace, said following the addition of Air Works to our portfolio, this acquisition strengthens our capabilities and footprint in the MRO segment and reinforces our position.

SIP inflows hit new high of ₹28,464 cr in July

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

DESPITE a series of falls in the market, capital inflows through systematic investment plans (SIPs) route hit a new high in July at ₹28,464 crore, up 4% from ₹27,269 crore in June.

Capital inflows have been more broad-based across most equity categories, signalling renewed investor appetite after a relatively moderate June. Equity inflows saw a record high of 81% month-on-month to ₹42,702.35 crore from ₹23,568 crore in June, marking the 53rd straight month of positive flows into equity schemes, according to the latest data release from the industry lobby Amfi released on Monday.

Venkat N Chalasani, CEO of Association of Mutual Funds in India, told reporters on Monday "the total assets under management grew by 1.3% to ₹75.36 lakh crore, despite pressures from strong dollar and persistent foreign fund outflows. This is a testament to sustained investor confidence and disciplined participation".

"Equity funds saw the highest-ever monthly inflow of ₹42,702 crore, with DIIs maintaining strong support. SIP contributions hit a new record of Rs 28,464 crore, and contributing accounts grew 5.4% to 9.11 crore, a clear evidence of disciplined investing even amid volatility." While the SIP inflows in July rose 4% to ₹28,464 crore from ₹27,269 crore in June, total assets under management of the industry rose 1.27% to ₹75.35 lakh crore from ₹74.4 lakh crore in June, ₹72.20 lakh crore in May, and ₹69.99 lakh crore in April, reflecting steady growth and increasing investor interest and the 81% rally in the inflows into equity funds.

The continuing investor interest in SIPs has seen the number of SIP accounts rising to 9.45 crore from 9.19 crore in June, with 68.69 lakh new SIP registrations in the month, while 43.04 lakh accounts were closed or matured.

As per Amfi, the number of contributing SIP accounts surged from 8.64 crore in June to 9.11 crore in July, an addition of 47 lakh accounts. However, SIP assets under management fell to ₹15.19 lakh crore, down from ₹15.31 lakh crore in June, with SIPs accounting for 20.2% of the mutual fund industry's total assets.

COAI opposes spectrum allocation to enterprises, cites security concerns

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI), representing private telecom service providers, has strongly opposed the direct allocation of spectrum to enterprises.

It argues that such a move is not viable in India due to the country's unique telecom ecosystem, potential revenue losses, and national security risks. COAI — which counts Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel, and Vodafone Idea among its members — insists that enterprise 5G requirements should be met exclusively through licensed Telecom Service Providers (TSPs), either via spectrum leasing or through network slicing. According to the association, the Indian scenario differs significantly from countries like the US, Finland, Germany, and the UK, where private 5G networks are typically deployed in remote or geographically isolated areas. In contrast, most Indian enterprises are located in well-serviced urban zones already covered by licensed telecom operators.

The association also disputes claims that independently setting up private 5G networks would be more cost-effective for enterprises.

It points out that such deployments involve high capital expenditure, not just on network equipment, but also on spectrum management, security systems, ongoing maintenance, and skilled manpower.

"Unlike TSPs, most enterprises do not have the expertise or scale to manage telecom infrastructure efficiently. What appears cheaper on paper could turn out to be more expensive and operationally burdensome in practice," said S P Kochhar, Director General of COAI.

Soon law against cyberattack on power systems

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government is in the process of finalising regulations to protect India's power systems from cyberattacks, said Minister of State for Power Shripad Naik on Monday.

The minister, in a written reply to the Rajya Sabha, said the new regulations aim to ensure that the control and operation of power system elements—including solar inverters—as well as exchange of related information, including real-time data, remain within national boundaries."Central Electricity Authority is in the process of finalizing the Central Electricity Authority (Cyber Security in Power Sector) Regulations," said the minister. The ministry previously acknowledged that cyber intrusions and scanning activities have been detected and blocked at various times.

To strengthen cybersecurity safeguards, Naik told the House that the ministry has mandated the clearance of certain IT equipment and services — yet to be identified—through trusted telecom portal operated by the National Security Council Secretariat (NSCS).

Mkt up on announcement of Trump-Putin meet

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market rose ahead on Monday as sentiment improved following the announcement that U.S. President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin will meet in Alaska to discuss the Russia–Ukraine conflict.

Besides easing geopolitical tensions, a positive global market also supported the rally. The US markets rose 1% in the previous session while Asian and European markets were in green on optimism over potential interest rate cuts by US Fed. BSE Sensex closed 746 points (0.93%) higher at 80,604, while the Nifty rose 221 points (0.91%) to settle at 24,585. In the broader market, BSE Midcap added 0.8%, and the small-cap index rose 0.35%.

Among sectoral indices, Nifty Realty and PSU Bank indices advanced 2% each, and other sectors like pharma, auto, mid-cap, defence, and FMCG gained up to 1%. The PSU Bank index surged after SBI delivered better-than-expected Q1 results.

"Global market sentiments improved, following reports of US-Russia peace talks likely to be held this week, while Indian investors cheered FII inflows of ₹1,933cr on Friday," said Siddhartha Khemka - head of research, wealth management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services. Foreign institutional investors (FIIs) turned net sellers on Monday as they offloaded shares worth ₹1,159 crore. The selling was countered by domestic institutional investors (DIIs) net purchase of ₹5,951 crore.

He added that private lender ICICI Bank's move to raise minimum balance need for new saving accounts, boosted traction in public sector banks. "AMC stocks are likely to be in focus as net inflow into equity mutual funds surged 81% to ₹42,672 crore in July as per latest AMFI data. Stock/sector specific action would continue as the earnings season enters its final leg," stated Khemka.

'Fit' and 'ready' Mirabai set for Commonwealth Championships

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

MORE than a year after a disappointing fourth place finish at the 2024 Paris Olympics, ace lifter Mirabai Chanu will be seen lifting weights in an international event during the 2025 Commonwealth Senior, Junior and Youth Championships.

The event is scheduled to be held in Ahmedabad, Gujarat from August 24 to 30. With the International Weightlifting Federation revising weight categories and scrapping her pet division 49kg, the 2020 Tokyo Olympics silver medallist will compete in 48kg at the championships. Around 300 athletes from 31 countries are set to compete in the tournament.

"Mirabai is fit and ready for the tournament," Vijay Sharma, weightlifting head coach, told this daily. The competition will be held in eight weight categories in each senior, junior and youth sections. The championships is also a qualifying event for the 2026 Commonwealth Games scheduled in Glasgow, Scotland.

"The Senior World Championships slated from October 2 to 11 in Forde, Norway will be her next international event," added Sharma. A ranking list based on the lifters' performance in the two events and the 2026 Asian Championships will be prepared and the top athlete from each weight category will become eligible for the Commonwealth Games, informed the coach.

"The next three tournaments are important as they will serve as qualifiers for the 2026 CWG. Mirabai started weight training in January and is in good shape and free of injuries. She is competing in a new weight category now so if she can repeat her best show in 49kg then it will be good enough," said the coach.

Mirabai finished fourth in the women's 49kg at the Paris Games as she could not lift 114kg in her third and final clean and jerk attempt. Mirabai lifted a total of 199kg (88kg in snatch+111kg in C&J).

It was 3kgs less than what she heaved at the Tokyo Games (202 kg) for a silver medal. Surodchana Khambao from Thailand bagged the bronze for her effort of 200kg(88kg+112kg). Speaking on Mirabai's snatch lift that deprived her of a consecutive Olympic medal, the coach said they are not really trying to breach the 90kg mark at the moment. "She lifted 88kg in the 49kg weight category and if she does the same in 48kg then it will be good enough.

We are not trying to improve on anything at the moment. If she can lift an overall weight of 200kg that will be good as per our expectations," Sharma said. Apart from her, Sorokhaibam Bindyarani Devi will be India's medal hope at the event. She will compete in 58kg. Other women lifters from the country in the senior category are Sneha Soren (53kg), Seram Nirupama Devi (63kg), Harjinder Kaur (69kg), Harmanpreet Kaur (77kg), Vanshita Verma (86kg) and Mehak Sharma (+86kg).

In the senior men's section, Tamil Nadu's N Ajith will compete in the 71kg. Muthupandi Raja will return to action as well. Full story: newindianexpress.com

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

AROUND the time when D Gukesh was crowned as the world champion, RB Ramesh and R Praggnanadhaa had a very frank conversation. The interaction between teacher and student didn't focus on Gukesh's title but the spotlight was on the wider developments within Indian chess.

"There were things we discussed at the end of last year," Ramesh told select media during the fifth round of the Chennai Grand Masters on Monday. "Does it have a negative impact on you? Because Gukesh, rating wise, he went up. Pragg was 2740 in January. In December also he was 2740. He had had some ups and downs. 'So do others' performances have an impact on you?' These were some of the issues we discussed."

The irony wasn't lost on India's very wide chess community as well. In August 2023, Praggnanandhaa had qualified for the Candidates after advancing to the final of the World Cup. Four months later, Gukesh joined him in the 11th hour. Yet, it was Gukesh who topped the Candidates. Erigaisi, the oldest among the trio, meanwhile went on a rampage and saw his ratings jump by 60 points. Because Ramesh has worked with Praggnanandhaa for a long time, he knew he would get a frank response. "Otherwise, what's the point in having the conversation," Ramesh said. "If you want to hide things, I won't even be asking these questions. If my student is not going to be frank with me, I won't be working with them. And I'm not going to be honest with my students, they should not be working with me. There should be some trust between the trainer and the player." So the duo addressed the 19-year-old's mental state (something they have always spoken about).

RESULTS (ROUND 5)

Masters: Jorden van Foreest bt Ray Robson, Anish Giri drew with Karthikeyan Murali, Nihal Sarin drew with Awonder Liang, Vincent Keymer drew with Vidit Gujrathi, Arjun Erigaisi drew with V Pranav Challengers: Harshavardhan GB bt R Vaishali, Abhimanyu Puranik bt D Harika, M Pranesh drew with Leon Mendonca, Aryan Chopra drew with Adhiban Baskaran, P Iniyan drew with Diptayan Ghosh

The proof is in the pudding. Post that debrief, the super GM has been on a roll. In 2025, Praggnanandhaa has gained 38 points and has cracked the world's top five (on the live ratings, he's the best Indian). He's also the circuit leader and is well placed to advance to the 2026 edition of the Candidates via that pathway.

Even if the young Indian players — Gukesh, Praggnanandhaa, Erigaisi and Nihal Sarin among others — are friendly away from the board, they know that their peers are some of the best going around. Because all of them have the stated aim of becoming world champion, they also know that their compatriots are also some of their biggest competition.

There was a time when it used to affect them but Ramesh, almost 50, said they have learnt to cope with the territory. "Because we are all humans and we are all emotional people," the super coach said. "It will have an impact, especially when your competitors are doing better. It can affect you... Initially it was not very easy," as they were all very young.

Ramesh, one of the pre-eminent chess trainers in the country today, cited the Praggnanandhaa example. "When he won the Under-18 Worlds, he felt that he was the best player (in that age group) in the world. Suddenly, there is competition in that age-group. In the last two years, though, they are used to it. From the players' perspective, they are trying to go to the very top."

At the World Cup, Praggnanandhaa, Sarin, Erigaisi and the other elite talents of Indian chess will be there hoping to advance to the Candidates.

BFI polls: Ajay Singh vs Bhandari for the president's post again

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE way nominations for the posts of president, secretary and treasurer have been filed for the Boxing Federation of India elections, nothing much has changed since last time in March. Once again it will be Ajay Singh (who was the president until the interim committee was formed) against Rajesh Bhandari, the former secretary general of the now unrecognised Indian Amateur Boxing Association. Returning officer, former judge Rajesh Tandon, has signed the candidates' list.

Interestingly, Bhandari, who is the chief of Himachal Pradesh Boxing unit, was backing former sports minister Anurag Thakur. Thakur's name was removed from the electoral college after he did not meet the eligibility criteria as listed in a newly-amended constitution of the BFI when the interim committee was in charge. Ajay Singh has been getting the backing of the World Boxing. Despite objection from the Indian Olympic Association and even the sports ministry, he seems to be enjoying the support. It needs to be seen if the constitution that was prepared and passed without the general body consent will prevail. Ironically, most of the members have been part of the BFI (as IABF or IBF members) for ages.

There are three candidates for the post of president, while five each for secretary general and treasurer's posts. There are seven candidates, including one woman, fighting for four posts of joint secretaries. Similarly, there are some 10 candidates for the post of vice presidents. There are double entries as well in most positions. According to the new constitution, "The Executive Council of the Boxing Federation of India shall consist of persons as follows: a. the President; b. Vice Presidents – 4 (one woman). The highest polling Vice President; will be nominated as the First Vice President; c. the Secretary General; d. Joint Secretary – 4 (one woman). The highest polling Joint Secretary will be nominated as the First Joint Secretary; e. the Treasurer; f. Executive Members – 4 (one woman);..."

Bhatia rode the week on his first round and finish six shots behind Justin Rose (67).

National Games winner handed three-year ban

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

NATIONAL Games discus throw gold medallist Gagandeep Singh was among a slew of athletes across sports who were handed three-year ban by the National Anti-Doping Agency (NADA) instead of four after they accepted their offence within 20 days of being charged.

Representing Services, Singh had won gold in men's discus with a best throw of 55.01m at the Uttarakhand National Games on February 12. He later tested positive for testosterone metabolites and was handed provisional suspension. In the NADA's latest update on dope offenders, the 30-year-old Singh got one-year reduction in his ban period under "case resolution agreement" provided in Article 10.8 and 8.3 of NADA Anti-Doping Rule 2021. His three-year ban period has started from February 19 this year. The maximum ban period for a first offence is four years but Article 10.8 of the NADA Rules provides for "results management agreements" under which athletes can get reduced punishment based on early admission and acceptance of sanction.

Article 10.8.1 allows athletes charged with a four-year ban to benefit from a one year reduction if they admit the violation and accept the penalty within 20 days of being charged. Article 10.8.2 provides an opportunity for the athlete to enter into a Case Resolution Agreement with NADA and WADA in which the applicable period of ineligibility can be agreed upon based on the facts of the case.

Surfer Ramesh hungry for big success

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

FROM not qualifying for last year's Asian surfing meet to making history as the first Indian surfer to win a medal in an Asian meet, Ramesh Budihal has risen out of deep waters. On the coast, the Keralaman has navigated the toughest of waves. It was a tougher challenge. He lost his father last year, in addition to the disappointment of qualification.

On Sunday, Ramesh clinched bronze with a 12.60-point performance in the open men's final of the Asian Surfing Championship in Mahabalipuram. "My goal was to win gold. But I'm still proud to take the bronze. I am happy with the support from the team," he told this daily, a day after his performance.

It took Ramesh three years to come to this stage and achieve this feat. "If we get more opportunities, we can put ourselves into higher performances and more medals," he added. In a way, this tournament was his last-chance saloon, and his give-it-all performance has earned him India's first medal in surfing at the continental event.

Surfer Ramesh Budihal is keen on fine-tuning his skill for the Asian Games | SFI

2024 was not the ideal year for the surfer from Kovalam, Kerala. In addition to missing out on qualifying for the Asian meet that year in Maldives, Ramesh lost his father, and encountered other personal issues. "I felt discouraged by all of this. Despite having good support then, I didn't have moral support. Then I reset my mind, moved on from it, and trained hard," he said.

Ramesh felt that training in Bali, Indonesia in April this year with high performance coaches helped him improve on his technique. He had to fund the trip, the coaching fees and the equipment out of his own pockets. But it was the sessions with Indian national team coach Samai Reboul that helped Ramesh mentally. "He helped the team improve their mindsets and our self belief," he said.

His next objective is to prepare himself for the Asian Games, if given more support. Fine-tuning my skill for next year remains key. "It wasn't easy for me to come all the way because it was financially difficult. Athletes like us need to be supported more by the government. Only then we can improve our skills and get more exposure, which will help us win medals," he explained.

50 Days to Go event for Women's World Cup kicks off

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

CRICKET icons Mithali Raj and Yuvraj Singh were part of star-studded panels that conversed on various aspects of women's cricket at a function in Mumbai to mark '50 Days to Go' for the ICC Women's Cricket World Cup 2025, the trophy tour for which was also launched today. The event was inaugurated by ICC Chairman Mr. Jay Shah before the panel discussions, which also featured Indian cricket stars Harmanpreet Kaur, Smriti Mandhana and Jemimah Rodrigues, and International Cricket Council (ICC) CEO Sanjog Gupta.

ICC Chairman Jay Shah said the upcoming World Cup is a great chance to further grow the women's game and welcomed the inputs of present and former players in the panel discussions.

"The return of the ICC Women's Cricket World Cup 2025 to India comes at a defining moment for the women's game, setting the stage for a truly world-class tournament that will further elevate the sport's global stature. The ICC Women's Cricket World Cup, to be played on a round-robin format among eight teams – Australia, Bangladesh, England, India, New Zealand, Pakistan, South Africa and Sri Lanka - will be the first women's global cricket event in the sub-continent since India hosted the ICC Women's T20 World Cup i n 2016.

INDIAN Army made a remarkable comeback from two goals down to beat 1 Ladakh FC 4-2 in their final Group C match of the Durand Cup in Jamsghedpur on Monday.Despite the win, Indian Army exited the tournament as they could not make it to the quarterfinals. While the result took them to six points, they missed out on the knockout spot by goal difference. Meanwhile, Northeast United and Rangdajied United played out a 2-2 draw in a Group E tie, at the JN Stadium in Shillong. Bekey Oram and Jairo Samperio were the goalscorers.

PALLIATIVE CARE

How to help patients face ailments with dignity and fortitude

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WHEN we think of healthcare, we often imagine it in binary terms - people are either sick and need to be cured, or they're well and need to stay that way. But the reality, especially for older adults dealing with chronic conditions, is often much more complicated. In this space between illness and wellness lies palliative care — a form of medical support that prioritises comfort, dignity, and quality of life over aggressive interventions.

Contrary to popular belief, palliative care is not just 'end-of-life' care. It is a layered, holistic approach to managing age-related ailments like dementia, advanced heart disease, frailty, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), cancer, and stroke. And as India's elderly population grows, doctors say that understanding how palliative care works, and when to consider it, becomes more than a personal choice. It becomes a public health conversation.

Doctors explained that palliative care is about easing suffering — physical, psychological, emotional, and even spiritual. It's a multidisciplinary approach that doesn't seek to cure the illness but to improve the patient's overall experience of living with it. This care is typically delivered by a team: doctors, nurses, social workers, physiotherapists, psychologists, and sometimes chaplains. Experts highlight that they coordinate with the patient's regular physicians to manage pain, breathlessness, fatigue, anxiety, nausea, and the side effects of long-term medications.

Dr Raghavendra Ramanjulu, lead consultant, palliative medicine and rehabilitation at Aster RV Hospital, explained that palliative care is not exclusive to terminal illnesses. It can, and ideally should, begin early, alongside curative treatments, especially in elderly individuals with progressive, non-reversible conditions. Think of it as a parallel track that ensures the journey is not only longer but more bearable, he said.

Proactive vs reactive

Here's where palliative care stands apart. Regular healthcare systems are often reactive — they respond to flare-ups, ER visits, or acute complications. Palliative care is proactive. It anticipates the decline, plans for it, and aims to minimise suffering before it escalates, Dr Ramanjulu said.

Explaining further, Dr Ramanjulu said, symptom management pain is often underreported by older patients - They may assume it's a "normal" part of ageing. But untreated pain can affect appetite, sleep, and mood. Palliative teams use specialised protocols to address complex pain and other distressing symptoms like insomnia, shortness of breath, constipation, and confusion.

Palliative care includes counselling, support groups, and even respite services for family members, as coping with a progressive illness or cognitive decline can be isolating — not just for the patient, but also for caregivers. In cases like dementia, it helps caregivers understand behaviour changes and how to respond without panic or guilt.

One of the overlooked offerings of palliative care is advance care planning. It's not just about Do-Not-Resuscitate (DNR) orders. It's about what the person values most — staying at home? Avoiding ICU? Having familiar caregivers? These discussions ensure that future decisions align with the patient's priorities, not just what the medical system is set up to deliver.

Another important aspect is continuity of care - Palliative services often offer home-based care, which is a huge advantage for elderly patients who find hospital visits taxing. Trained staff can assess changes in condition, adjust medication, and ensure dignity in care even in the last months or years of life.

The cost of palliative care depends on where you live, whether you're accessing public or private services, and what level of care is needed, says Dr Ashwin Kulkarni, consultant, palliative care, at Ramaiah Memorial Hospital.

However, there are also non-profit organisations and government-run hospices offering subsidised or even free care. For instance, Kerala has integrated palliative care into its primary health system, and cities like Pune, Hyderabad, and Delhi are slowly following suit.

WHEN SHOULD YOU CONSIDER IT?

OFTEN, FAMILIES WAIT UNTIL A CRISIS – A FALL, A HOSPITAL ADMISSION, A MAJOR HEALTH EVENT – TO EXPLORE IT. BUT EARLY INTEGRATION OFTEN LEADS TO BETTER OUTCOMES AND MORE INDEPENDENCY IN DECISION MAKING

SOME SIGNS THAT SUGGEST IT MAY BE TIME

- The patient has multiple hospitalisations in a short span
- There's progressive decline in mobility, cognition, or appetite
- Medications are becoming harder to manage, and side effects are increasing
- The person expresses a desire to stay at home, rather than undergo aggressive treatment

BONE MARROW TRANSPLANT

SAFER & MORE ACCESSIBLE NOW

Bone marrow transplant today is much safer than it was a few years ago. We now have better ways to find matching donors, says Dr G Vijay, Hemato Oncologist, VS Hospitals, in an interview with Sinduja Jane. Edited excerpts:

■ What are the latest advances in Bone Marrow Transplant?

Earlier, patients had to wait for a perfectly matched donor, like finding a key that fits a lock exactly. Now, with haploidentical transplants (half-matched donors), a parent, child or sibling can be the donor. This has been a game-changer in India, where full matches are rare. We also have more precise HLA typing (compatibility testing) to reduce rejection risk, and gentler conditioning treatments to prepare the body, especially helpful for children and older patients. A major advance is preventing graft-versus-host disease (GVHD), where the new donor cells see your body as 'foreign' and attack it. Today, special medicines can 'teach' these cells to live in harmony with one's body.

INTERVIEW
DR G VIJAY

■ What are the recent research and advances in BMT?

Research is moving towards making BMT safer, faster, and more widely available. One breakthrough is gene therapy, instead of replacing bone marrow, we can correct faulty genes in the patient's own stem cells. This is showing promise in thalassemia and sickle cell disease. In cancer care, CAR-T cell therapy is making headlines. Sometimes this is used alongside BMT for better results. Reduced-intensity conditioning is another innovation, allowing older or medically fragile patients to have BMT with fewer side effects.

■ What has been the pace of research in BMT in India?

India has made remarkable progress in BMT over the last decade. One of our biggest achievements is mastering haploidentical transplants at much lower cost compared to Western countries, but with similar success rates. Given that only 25–30% of Indian patients find a fully matched sibling donor, this has been life-changing. Indian research also focuses on faster, cost-effective infection detection, because early treatment in the first few weeks post-transplant can save lives. Nutrition is another area where we have developed tailored diet plans to improve immunity in patients who may be malnourished before transplant. We're building large donor registries and spreading awareness about stem cell donation to expand our options for patients.

■ Who is eligible for BMT and when is it required?

BMT is used when the bone marrow is producing harmful cells or has stopped working. This includes blood cancers, aplastic anaemia, and genetic disorders.

There are two types of transplants: autologous and allogeneic. In autologous, the patient's own healthy stem cells are collected, stored, and given back after treatment. In allogeneic, stem cells are taken from a donor, either a full match or a half match.

Timing is key. In some cancers, early BMT offers the best cure rates; in others, we wait until other treatments have failed.

■ What are the precautions needed to be taken after a bone marrow transplant?

The first year after BMT is like caring for a newborn, the immune system is brand new and needs protection. In hospitals, patients stay 3–6 weeks in a protective room until the new marrow starts producing healthy blood cells, called engraftment. At home, hygiene is crucial: boiled or filtered water, freshly cooked food, avoiding crowds, and regular handwashing. Medicines to prevent rejection and infections must be taken exactly as prescribed. Follow-up visits are essential. Physical strength returns slowly, and most patients can resume work, school, or normal activities in 6–12 months. Emotional recovery is equally important, and counselling helps.

■ What should patients or parents know before going for BMT?

BMT is a life-saving treatment, but it requires preparation. One needs to understand the steps: finding a donor, pre-transplant treatment to prepare the body, infusing healthy stem cells, and recovery. Financial planning is important as costs include treatment, medicines, and follow-up. Most importantly, choose a hospital with an experienced team and strong infection control.

LEADLESS PACEMAKERS

ELIMINATING WIRES, RISK OF INFECTION

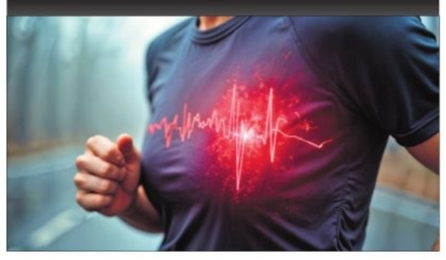
Leadless pacemaker does not have wires or large battery and doesn't need a surgical pocket for its implantation. It is approximately 3cm in length, shaped like a bullet and is miniscule compared to a conventional pacemaker which has the size of a matchbox



EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

CHERIAN*, an octogenarian, was a post by-pass surgery patient, who also underwent a stent implantation. He later developed a stent re-block which was opened again with a new technology called drug coated balloon (DCB) angioplasty.

However, very recently he developed an episode of unconsciousness. To completely understand his condition, he was put under a 24-hour evaluation with ECG monitoring. "During this period, he developed another episode of unconsciousness and the ECG showed that the heart had stopped completely for over six seconds," said Dr Binoy John, the head of interventional cardiology at Venkataeshwara Hospital, Nandanam, Chennai. This clearly pointed out to the heart's pacemaker, called the SA node, had failed and the patient needed an artificial pacemaker implantation to prevent another cardiac arrest, Dr John added. The SA node is what generates heart beats, normally at rates of 60-100 beats per minute.

Considering the advanced age and health history, the patient was implanted with a leadless pacemaker and was also discharged within a day. The procedure on Cherian was performed by Dr Binoy John and team which included Dr Madhu Sankar, head of CTVS, and Dr Thillai Vallal, senior cardiologist, at Venkataeswara Hospital. As this new type of pacemaker eliminates the need for leads (wires) that connect to the heart, it offers advantages like reduced risk of infection and complications associated with traditional pacemakers.

Dr Binoy John

Leadless pacemaker does not have wires or large battery and doesn't need a surgical pocket for its implantation. It is approximately 3cm in length, shaped like a bullet and is miniscule compared to a conventional pacemaker which has the size of a matchbox. The battery and the electrical components are all located in this capsule. It is implanted directly into the heart through a vein in the leg using a catheter. As there is no surgical pocket, the patient can be discharged the very next day. Other advantages include easily removability and longer battery life (16-17 years) compared to conventional pacemaker.

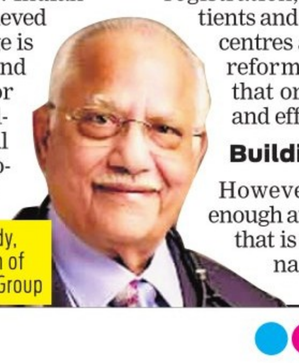
Conventional pacemakers which have been used over the past decades, in millions of patients consists of a battery or pulse-generator and one or two long wires or leads which are placed inside the chambers of the heart through a vein under the collar bone. Though a relatively safe procedure and tolerated well by majority of the people, conventional pacemakers can be associated with risks like bleeding, infection and pus formation in the pocket, in which case prolonged hospitalisation is needed to manage removal of the battery and leads. .

With just around a total of 1,300 leadless pacemaker implantations performed in India since its introduction in 2018, further developments in the leadless pacemaker technology are ongoing, and it would be a game changer in pacing technology for all age groups in the future.

Time to scale up organ transplants via policy, infra, & partnerships

ORGAN transplants is a field where modern medicine meets the deepest values of our society - compassion, courage, and collective responsibility. Medical breakthroughs and public awareness campaigns have led to annual organ donations in our country increasing from fewer than 5,000 in 2013 to over 15,000 by 2022. However, even with all our progress, the gap between potential and reality remains wide. India's organ donation rate is among the lowest in the world at just 0.65 per million population. Around half a million Indians lose their lives every year while waiting for an organ transplant.

The question before us is not whether we have the medical expertise. We do! Indian surgeons and institutions have achieved remarkable outcomes. The challenge is how we scale ethically, equitably, and efficiently so that no life is lost for want of a transplant. And that challenge must be met not with tactical fixes, but with strategic vision, robust institutions, and the will to act. This will entail strengthening our donor networks, making our regulatory framework more robust, and promoting collaborative efforts.



Dr Prathap C Reddy, founder-chairman of Apollo Hospitals Group

Robust regulatory framework

The Transplantation of Human Organs Act (1994) provided a legal basis for organ donation 3by defining brain death and banning organ commerce. It set an ethical foundation for organ donations. The rules have been updated to meet new needs with the law amended to formally recognise "swap" transplants in 2011, thereby allowing willing donor families to exchange organs between two incompatible pairs. In 2023, the government removed the 65-year age cap and abolished state domicile restrictions for transplant registration, ensuring that older patients and those from outside major centres are not left behind. These reforms are helping to ensure that organs are allocated fairly and efficiently to those in need.

Building capacity

However, policy alone is not enough and we need infrastructure that is capable of translating donations into transplants. A robust nationwide organ-sharing network is crucial. The National Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisation (NOTTO) acts as an apex body coordinating organ allocation, but its reach must expand. At present, NOTTO operates via five Regional Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisations (ROTTOs) and 21 State Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisations (SOTTOs), coordinating with 966 hospitals / institutions across India. Transparency and fairness in organ allocation is essential and the centralised waiting list and allocation system operated by NOTTO helps to ensure that organs go to the most critical or well-matched patients, regardless of their location.

WORLD ORGAN DONATION DAY
PULSE OF THE MATTER

Yet, despite this framework, we know where the system remains fragile. The majority of organ transplants in India are done in some large private hospitals, while government hospitals account for less than 15% of deceased organ donations.Strengthening transplant infrastructure in public sector hospitals should be a key aspect of the strategy so that access to transplants will not depend on a patient's location and financial means. Public-private partnerships can help bridge this gap. If private hospitals, with their experienced surgeons and advanced protocols, can partner with medical colleges and district hospitals, it will result in knowledge transfer and capacity creation. For eg, a nationwide 'uniform one nation one swap transplant programme' to link incompatible donor pairs across states can potentially boost transplant numbers by about 15%.

Learning from success stories

India does not have to look far for examples of effective transplant infrastructure with states showing the way! Tamil Nadu stands out as a model achieving a deceased donation rate of 1.8 per million which is above the national average of 0.65 per million. Other states are now beginning to follow suit with their own transplant programs and networks. Andhra Pradesh's Jeevandan programme has deployed mobile transplant coordinator teams between hospitals, introduced financial and funeral support to donor families, and elevated state honour recognition. This helped the state cross 200 deceased organ donations in 2024.

Public awareness, engagement

However, even the best policies and the strongest institutions need public trust. Alongside policy and infrastructure, it is vital to create awareness about organ donation and transplant through public engagement. This requires sustained national campaigns to dispel myths and cement the concept of organ donation in the public consciousness. Emergency doctors, ICU staff, nurses — everyone must be empowered to identify potential donors and communicate with sensitivity and clarity. By celebrating donor heroes and making the system transparent and trustworthy, the culture of organ donation can be further strengthened.

Organ donation is the most profound expression of humanity — to give life after life. Let us honour this act by building a system that respects every donor, serves every recipient, and leaves no one behind.

AHEAD OF THEIR TEAM'S AUSTRALIA TOUR, INDIAN MEN'S HOCKEY TEAM VICE-CAPTAIN HARDIK SINGH AND FIRST-TIME PLAYER FROM KARNATAKA, POOVANNA CB, REFLECT ON THEIR PERSONAL GROWTH, THE WINS AND LOSSES, AND ASPIRATIONS FOR THE 2026 WORLD CUP

STICKS READY, EYES STEADY

Hardik Singh

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

"I think we are back to how we were ahead of the Paris Olympics last year," says star midfielder Hardik Singh during a chat after what has been an unusual day for the Indian hockey team – they've just finished playing a casual game of Kabaddi with the Gujarat Giants at the Sports Authority of India (SAI) grounds – a day before they board flights to Australia to compete in a four-match series. He adds, "Everyone has been focusing on their physical form. We've had to keep in mind that Australia plays very physical matches and their mindset is really strong – we need to match that."

Having won the 2022 Asian Games and scored a bronze at the last two Olympics, the last few years have been big for the Indian men's field hockey team, which Singh has been vice-captaining since 2023. Reflecting on his personal growth as a leader, the Arjuna awardee says, "I've seen many captains in my junior and senior term years like PR Sreejesh, Manpreet Singh and Harmanpreet Singh, so I've learnt what happens in captaincy and how to treat juniors – appreciating them can really raise confidence and boost the game. But in this team, we don't need a single leader, but five to six in every match who can show the team how things are to be done."

On leading alongside captain Harmanpreet Singh, he notes that it's all about balance. "I know him from a very long time on and off the field. We have that kind of friendship where, inside the field, I know sometimes I can be aggressive and he can be a little cool, or the other way round. You always need that combination for the team," he says.

While the nation celebrated the team's bronze win at last year's Paris Olympics, Singh considers it a loss, saying, "In my view, we may have won a medal, but we didn't win the semi-final. The feeling of winning gold is something else. I'm not saying I'm sad but this is how you get competitiveness in an athlete, how you learn and improve – by asking more from yourself."

How does he overcome losses like this? The key is to stay grounded. "I'm still learning how to overcome disappointment but I've been getting better. The key is to keep going. You should never take a loss to your heart and a win to your head," shares Singh.

With the 2026 World Cup coming up, and the team set to play in the Asia Cup, which is a World Cup qualifier within a week of the Australia tour, Singh eyes the top prize. He sees it as a personal comeback as well as one for the team. "In my first World Cup, I was an amateur and in the second, I got injured and didn't get a chance to play. However, the most important thing is to let the team shine first, and win this World Cup," Singh adds.

'I would like to see more players with me from Karnataka'

BENGALURU boy Poovanna CB, a 22-year-old hockey player, originally from Kodagu, has been included in the 24-member national team for the first time. "A couple of years ago, my goal was to be here in the core team. Now that I'm here, I'm just happy to play alongside those I've always wanted to play with," he says, sharing his excitement. "All these players have a lot of experience in the game and I'm learning a lot. I admire Manpreet's energy, seeing him play like that, Harmanpreet's consistency and attitude towards the game, Hardik and how hard he plays, and Abhishek and Sukhjeet, who have made a lot of difference for the team in the last couple of years," he adds, speaking to CE on the hockey field at the SAI grounds, ahead of his departure with the team to Australia for a four-match series.

The lead-up to the Australia tour has meant rigorous practice for Poovanna, with his days starting early and involving two training sessions before wrapping up in the evenings. He explains, "I get up at 6.30am, freshen up, have breakfast and mentally prepare for the intensity of the day's training, which starts at 8.30am. Red days are high intensity, orange is a little intensive, and on green days we focus on technicalities and concentration." In between practice sessions, the youngster has also been pursuing higher studies, "I've also been attending online seminars and classes for my MBA and try to read a few chapters of books in between," he says.

Poovanna CB

Hailing from Kodagu and being surrounded by a rich hockey culture as a child was how Poovanna first got introduced to the sport. Recalling those early days, he credits his mother with pushing him to pursue the sport further, saying, "As a Kodava, we have huge hockey festivals and my dream as a kid was to play for the family team. I started in Class 5 and would play whenever I got some free time." He adds, "It was my mom who really wanted to make me something of player. I got selected for one of the first batches in Ashwini Nachappa's academy. Those three years really helped me grow. The coaches there taught me a lot in terms of my fitness and physicality – I think that's when I grew up."

Players from Karnataka and particularly Kodagu, were once a common sight in hockey teams but that hasn't been the case for the last few years. Poovanna comments, "A few years ago, we had a lot of Karnataka players like VR Raghunath, SK Uthappa, SV Sunil, in the team which was really nice to see. It is sad that it's just me now; I would like to see more players with me from Karnataka." He speculates that the reason may be a lack of opportunities to compete. "We need more exposure tournaments where more players can play and talents can be found. There are hundreds of players and one tournament cannot accommodate them all. In Punjab, things have improved, and there are many opportunities for kids to compete in and showcase their talents," he says.

BISFF 2025: A new chapter begins

A still from African Family Dinner

EXPRESS FEATURES

THE Bangalore International Short Film Festival (BISFF) has returned with its 15th edition, now proudly Oscar-accredited. What began in 2010 with just 40 entries has blossomed into a global platform with over 3,000 submissions annually. BISFF champions stories that captivate, challenge, and connect, and this year, it's back with the theme Transform.

This year, BISFF celebrates a major milestone: I'm Not a Robot, winner of BISFF 2024's International Competition, went on to win the Academy Award for Best Live Action Short Film. The landmark win affirms BISFF's growing global short film circuit influence. For the first time, the festival will also recommend an animation film for Oscar consideration.

The festival runs online till August 17, accessible across India, and offline from August 14 to 17 at five venues in Bengaluru. It will host a lineup of filmmakers, industry leaders, and storytellers, spanning acclaimed directors, writers, and cultural icons.

Festival director Anand Varadaraj says, "We in the cinema industry are standing at the edge of something huge. AI is shaking things up, and it's not just about movies anymore. It's about how we live and work. I think to stay ahead and to be future-forward, we should adapt, evolve, and be open to totally new ways of doing things."

This year's edition will feature 19 distinguished guests and jurors from across cinema, media, and academia, making BISFF 2025 an unmissable celebration of short films.

AMC COLLEGE GRADUATION CEREMONY HONOURS 1,500 STUDENTS RECEIVING ENGINEERING DEGREES

The AMC College Graduation Ceremony witnessed a proud moment as 1,500 students from undergraduate and postgraduate engineering programs received their degrees in a grand convocation held at the institution's Bannerghatta Road campus on Saturday.

Gracing the event as the Chief Guest, Dr. S. Vidyashankar, Vice-Chancellor of Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU), inspired the graduates with a powerful message: "Students must dream big and strive to turn those dreams into reality. Never forget that hard work is the only path that can take you to great heights."

Dr. Vidyashankar stressed the urgent need for skilled professionals in emerging domains such as Artificial Intelligence and Quantum Computing, noting the gap between demand and available talent.

"Merely obtaining an engineering degree is not enough. Skills must be developed alongside academics. We are addressing this gap by offering a variety of skill development courses and competency assessments to help students prepare for industry needs," he added.

He also encouraged students to maintain humility and strong values, even after achieving professional success.

Present at the event were Dr. K. R. Paramahamsa, President of AMC Institutions; K. Geetha Paramahamsa, Vice-President; Rahul Kalluri, Executive Vice-President; Dr. Mohan Babu, Director; and Dr. Yuvaraju, Principal, along with other dignitaries.

The event was attended by several dignitaries, includingK. Geetha Paramahamsa, Vice-President; Rahul Kalluri, Executive Vice-President; Dr. Mohan Babu, Director; and Dr. Yuvaraju, Principal, who joined faculty members and proud families in celebrating the graduates' achievements.

With the recent grant of autonomous status by VTU, we now have the freedom to design a curriculum aligned with real-world demands. Our vision is for students not merely to seek jobs, but to emerge as job creators. I extend my best wishes to all our graduates for a successful transition into their professional journeys.

- Dr. K. R. Paramahamsa, President, AMC Group of Educational Institutions.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING: THE DANGERS OF OVERTRAINING

When you're starting your fitness journey, it's easy to overdo it. Social media is filled with messages that glorify pushing your limits. But here's the reality: like anything else, more isn't always better, especially when it comes to exercise. Overtraining happens when your body doesn't get the time it needs to recover between sessions. This can lead to fatigue, poor performance and even injury. Here's how to identify it and what you can do to find balance.

HOW DO YOU KNOW IF YOU ARE OVERTRAINING?

Watch out for these physical and emotional red flags:

- Persistent tiredness or drop in energy
- Poor appetite and unintended weight loss
- Trouble sleeping or frequent wakeups
- Sore muscles for longer than usual
- Increased resting heart rate
- Higher blood pressure
- Frequent colds or infections
- Low motivation, irritability, or depression

STEPS TO AVOID OVERTRAINING

A few key strategies can help you train smart and stay injury-free:

- PERSONALISED PLANNING: Work with a certified trainer or dietician to create a plan tailored to your goals and body.
- INCLUDE REST DAYS: Space out your workouts and rest for more than 30 seconds between sets.
- DON'T SKIP COOLDOWNS: Stretch the worked muscles and allow your body to slow down gradually.
- TRACK YOUR WORKOUTS: Maintain a fitness journal. Reflect on days you feel unusually tired or sore.
- MIX IN RECOVERY WORKOUTS: Include low-impact activities like yoga, walking, or swimming.
- PRIORITISE SLEEP: Aim for 7-8 hours a night. Sleep is when real recovery happens.
- MONITOR HEART RATE: Use a fitness band to check for elevated resting heart rate, a subtle sign you're overdoing it.
- ACKNOWLEDGE LIFE STRESS: Mental and emotional stress affects your physical recovery. Speak to a mental health expert if needed.
- TRUST YOUR INSTINCTS: If something feels off, physically or emotionally, take a break.

BENEFITS OF REST AND RECOVERY

- Allows muscle repair and growth
- Improves mental focus and motivation
- Reduces injury risk
- Supports better sleep and hormone balance
- Enhances overall performance

LIMITATIONS OF OVERTRAINING

- May lead to burnout and injury
- Weakens immunity
- Slows down results despite more effort
- Can cause sleep issues and hormonal imbalances

FRAMES OF FRIENDSHIP

While we now have special days to celebrate friendships, here is a look at artists who have honoured friendships throughout history

EVERY bond we know in life comes with its own terms and conditions. Friendship is perhaps the only one that simply accepts you as you are. No adjustments or impractical expectations. It meanders through your life, lifting you up when you so need it. It is only natural, then, that many artworks in history have captured the spirit of this beautiful bond and continue to do so. From paintings to sculptures to collaborations between artists, friendship has been celebrated in art in more ways than one. In a world so fragmented by wars and differences, this bond provides that glimmer of hope and makes us stop looking at our fellow beings as strangers.

Although a new phenomenon, proclaimed by the United Nations only in 2011, International Friendship Day on July 30 is an initiative to foster warm ties between people, communities, cultures, and countries. Here's a look at artworks that have honoured this endearing emotion.

The tragedy of friendship

'Friendship' by Pablo Picasso

TO the art illiterate world, Picasso is the artist who gained fame with his extreme distortions of form. And yet, no one can deny the beauty with which he presented the varied emotions of these forms. In 1908, he painted 'Friendship,' in what is known as Analytical Cubism style, and although there have been varied interpretations, the fact remains that the underlying concept is amity.

Pablo Picasso had many close friends in his lifetime, but the one who deeply impacted him in his early years was Carles Casagemas, the Spanish artist with whom he shared a studio. The young men soon became great friends, frequenting cafes and bars together, although Picasso was always way ahead of his best friend, especially when it came to his popularity with women.

In 1901, Casagemas fell in love with a beautiful model, Germaine Pichot, who, along with her sister and friend, was a part of Picasso's circle, and his unrequited love led him on the downhill path of self-destruction with alcohol and depression. When he proposed his love to her at a party in 1903, and had to face a humiliating public rejection, he shot himself fatally, with Picasso as a witness, along with others. The tragic loss of his best friend not only completely shattered Picasso, but also filled him with guilt for striking up a relationship with Germaine. These unexpressed emotions may have found their way into his canvas when he painted 'Friendship' a few years later.

The feel of companionship

'Friendship' by Agnes Martin

IF male artists made visual representations of camaraderie, leave it to a woman to explore the depths of how friendship feels. That is exactly what American artist Agnes Martin did when she made her abstract painting titled 'Friendship' in 1963. The artist's journey, from her early period, has encompassed several styles of painting – from figurative to Rothko-style colour fields and surrealism. Eventually, she found her language in the style that her painting 'Friendship' is all about. Martin covered a layer of paint with a thin layer of gold leaf and then scratched the surface to reveal the paint underneath, and the result is nothing short of mesmerising – a metaphor for the unconscious brought forth and revealed! 'Friendship' is primarily Agnes Martin's answer to five decades of her investigations into inner sensations. Her canvas is what the feeling of friendship looks like, perhaps, in her quest to make emotions visible, she scratched the surface of her canvas with hand-drawn lines that reeked of human errors, to bring out its soul.

The power of female friendships

Shakuntala writing a love letter on a lotus leaf

IF Picasso portrayed bromance, Raja Ravi Varma, the father of Indian Art, depicted the strong bond of friendship and mutual support among women in his artworks. In his iconic painting, Shakuntala, he shows the beautiful friendship between Shakuntala and her two friends, Anasuya and Priyamvada. The bond between them played a significant role in the life of Shakuntala, and as most female friendships do, stood by her in matters of the heart. These inseparable friends are not just background characters in his painting or her life, but consistently support her romance with King Dushyantha, helping her with the initial meetings between the two lovers.

In one of his paintings, Shakuntala is seen writing a love letter to the king, aided by her friend. In another, she is seen in a forest with her friends, pretending to pluck a thorn off her foot, while looking out with yearning for her beloved king. However subtly said, it is clear that the narrative could not have ever been this powerful without the visual message of friendship in it.

Many such masterpieces in art history brilliantly capture the splendour of human connections. Human beings have never lived in isolation. We are meant to thrive in communities. Forging friendships is essential for our evolution. It teaches us to overlook flaws and embrace the positives, and this is what the world so badly needs today. May these visual odes live on in our memories and our hearts like true friends do!

Love is Love

Sreejith Sreekumar on his globally-acclaimed short film Adoption, which delves into the complexities of parenthood, identity and breaking taboos

ANJALI RAM

VERY often, subjects like adoption are either tiptoed around or wrapped only in sentimentality, but very rarely are they explored with sensitivity and honesty. That's where writer Sreejith Sreekumar brings his internationally acclaimed short film, Adoption, a poignant exploration of the complexities of parenthood, identity and social judgement.

"Parents should have the right to make decisions – if they want to adopt a child, it should be their choice and not the society's," he shares, adding, "I knew making a film like Adoption would be the better way to help people understand the legalities of the process involved – the right and the wrong."

Through the film, inspired by The Silent Child, a British sign language short film, Sreekumar sought to join the conversation, one that doesn't shy away from the emotionally stirring journey intertwined with legal undertones. "I felt the emotional attachment to the kid and the caretaker in the film [The Silent Child]. So, I thought of implementing the same thing differently," he says, adding how parenthood is beyond bloodlines: "Adoption felt like the perfect way to address the idea of what it truly means to be a parent, which is to understand the child and to believe in love".

Adoption follows a heart-wrenching journey of Angela (played by Natasha Lockhart), a nurse longing to become a mother, and the emotional weight she carries as she faces societal expectations and confronts personal loss in the process of adopting Love (portrayed by Ariella Neilly). As she navigates these turmoils, including her husband's reluctance to adoption, Sreekumar tries to mirror real-life societal scenarios. "We're often bound by society's definitions of family and identity, but it's about seeing things from your own eyes and making the right decisions. The consequences will also depend on the people's decisions, Sreekumar notes.

Stills from the film

Shot entirely in Northern Ireland while he was pursuing a short course there, Adoption reflects Sreejith's eye for authenticity. "Finding locations – houses, coffee shops, even casting children was not easy, but with the help of local and Indian friends in Belfast, we managed to pull off the project," he shares.

Looking ahead, Sreekumar hopes the world will be a better place to embrace topics like these with more understanding. "I wish people could spend more time with others to understand situations. Even if there is one person to listen, it will be a greater help. It's all about getting to know the world better," he stresses.

While his work has found recognition globally, Sreekumar, who visits Bengaluru often, dreams of working in the Kannada film industry in the future.

Adoption felt like the perfect way to address the idea of what it truly means to be a parent, which is to understand the child and to believe in love

PAVAN WADEYAR IN TALKS WITH PRAJWAL DEVARAJ FOR AN UPCOMING FILM WITH SHIVARAJKUMAR

This will be the next Kannada project to go on floors for the Hattrick Hero

A SHARADHAA

SHIVARAJKUMAR, currently juggling between various projects, is gearing up to begin shooting for director Pavan Wadeyar's next, which is expected to go on floors soon. The film will be produced by Apeksha Pavan Wadeyar and Pavan Wadeyar under their banner Wadeyar Movies, in association with Aarnaa Creatives.

Except for Shivarajkumar, the rest of the cast remains a mystery. However, Cinema Express has learned that the makers are in talks with Prajwal Devaraj for a prominent role. Sources reveal that the actor and the director have already met for initial discussions, with talks now moving towards finalisation. If the deal goes through, it will mark the first time Prajwal shares screen space with the Hat Trick Hero.

Prajwal, who is currently working on Karavalli with Gurudatha Ganiga and also has Cheetah on floors, has been selective about his recent projects. A film alongside Shivarajkumar, directed by Pavan Wadeyar, could be a notable addition to his line-up.

Shivarajkumar, on his end, is showing no signs of slowing down. The actor waiting for the release of 45, is busy shooting for the Telugu film Peddi with Ram Charan. He also has a film with Pavan Wadeyar, Srini's A For Anand lined up, and other ventures in the pipeline.

Think Music steps into Kannada, acquires audio rights of Peter

The film, directed by Sukesh Shetty, is an intense drama that blends folklore and suspense, and will now be released in four languages

CE FEATURES

Think Music, a major music label in Tamil, Malayalam, and Telugu cinema, is entering the Kannada scene for the first time by acquiring the audio rights to Peter, Sukesh Shetty's upcoming intense drama. This move marks a significant expansion for the label, combining its multilingual skills with a film steeped in local culture and suspense.

Set in the misty landscapes of Madikeri and Bhagamandala, Peter draws from folklore and local traditions to create a tense, layered story. It is an intense drama filled with thrilling suspense that draws inspiration from Singari Mela, a folk theatre style, and the deep rhythms of Kerala's Chende Mela, reflecting the cultural essence of the narrative.

The story is centred on a web of crime, cryptic clues, and hidden history, hinted at through poetic graffiti and the recurring image of a vintage motorcycle in its first-look poster. These symbols suggest a personal past tied to a mystery that the characters need to solve, mixing elements of thriller, drama, and cultural ethos.

A still from the film

The music, composed by Ritviik Muralidhar, is as varied as the film's themes. The soundtrack includes well-known artists like Ajay Gogavale from Sairat and Adipurush, Pranavam Sasi, who makes his Kannada debut with the lively "Ding Dong Bell," and Kapil Kapilan. The film, which was meant to be released in Kannada, Tamil, and Malayalam, has now expanded to include a Telugu version as well.

The film, produced by Ravi Hiremath and Rakesh Heggade, stars stars Rajesh Dhruva in the lead role, alongside Janvi Rayala, Raviksha Shetty, Ram Nadagoud, Varun Patel, and Pratima Nayak in key roles. With cinematography by Guruprasad Narnad and editing by Naveen Shetty, Peter is currently in the post-production phase and is expected to be released later this year.

Arya Mahesh and Manoj join forces for Bengaluru-set drama, Garden

CE FEATURES

Arya Mahesh, the director behind Kolara and English Manja, is back with his next project, Garden, for which he teams up with Takkar actor Manoj for a drama rooted in the pulse and personality of Bengaluru.

Manoj

Arya Mahesh

Arya Mahesh calls Garden "a mirror to the city's native flavour, both in its storyline and its dialect." The director adds, "I've always wanted to bring untold narratives to the screen. Manoj was the ideal choice for this role, and producer G Muniraju's trust makes this journey even more exciting."

For Manoj, Garden marks another turn in a rapidly diversifying career. After early supporting roles in films like Ambareesha and Chakravarthy alongside Challenging Star Darshan, he broke through as a lead in Takkar, a cybercrime thriller. He's currently wrapping Dharani, a rural drama from Ananthu vs. Nusrat director Sudheer Shanubhog, which explores traditional cockfighting culture.

"Takkar was about cybercrime, Dharani dives deep into rural traditions, but Garden is a full-on Bengaluru local film," Manoj says. "As soon as I heard the script, I knew I had to be part of it. People will see a very different side of me in this role."

Produced under the MR Cinemas banner, Garden was officially announced with a low-key script pooja, and the team plans to commence shooting in September, with key sequences to be shot across Bengaluru, aiming to capture the city's energy, language, and soul on screen.

'I DON'T HAVE TO PROVE MY LOVE FOR MY COUNTRY'

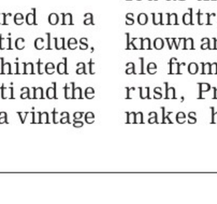
KARTIK BHARDWAJ

SPIES aren't exactly covert in movies. They will fistfight on top of a running train, dangle from an airplane and chase through a busy bazaar, ready to feature in headlines the next morning. They will be good looking, charming, riding a car whose engine roars not so subtly with a woman on their arm that can turn heads. But as John Le Carre often wrote about, real spy-work isn't that glamorous. It's less expensive suits and futuristic gadgets, more tracing calls and analysing heaps of documents. "Growing up, I thought a spy is a guy with the most swag," says Pratik Gandhi. "He can get into any building, steal anything and never get caught. If need be, he can also fight in the middle of the street and still nobody would recognise him. And I used to think, why is nobody noticing this guy? Hasn't he just blown his cover?"

The actor will be seen playing a stealthier RAW agent in the upcoming espionage-thriller series Saare Jahan Se Accha. He will be locking horns with Sunny Hinduja in the role of his slithery ISI counterpart, while Anup Soni completes the trio in the role of a compromised Pakistani military general. The Netflix show is set in the 1970s, during the cold war between India and Pakistan post Bangladesh's liberation. The newly formed Research and Analysis Wing (RAW) is keeping a hawk's eye on their neighbouring country's nuclear dreams. Espionage paraphernalia consists of morse-code transmitters, cameras camouflaging as cigarette lighters and messages hidden inside soap bars. "I remember watching the Dharmendra-starrer Charas (1976) when young," says Anup. "The heel of his shoe would twist open to reveal a transmitter. It was so fascinating." Sunny also shares his first interaction with the spy genre. "Shaktimaan won't count right?" he says with a laugh. "But that's actually what I thought spying was! You just change your hairstyle, wear spectacles and camouflage." But intelligence gathering is more complicated than that. It has a human cost that goes beyond mission objectives. Agents, living under false identities, might forget who they actually are. "The world of Saare Jahan Se Accha felt real. It was not the story of a spy, but of a human who happened to be a spy," shares Pratik. "What interested me was the layering of my character. He can't share his woes to his family or friends and to process such sensitive information on his own, the emotional turmoil of that, it intrigued me." Sunny adds, "Spy work is so high stakes that sometimes agents can't even live their own emotions. We see spies in films, firing guns and jumping off helicopters. But what do they actually feel? What is their internal life?" Anup says, "Coming forward to be 'the hero' might be the last thing a spy would do."

Then there is also the politics of such films and shows. In the current political environment, often, war and espionage films become vehicles of bigotry. The "enemy" characters aren't fleshed out and appear to be caricatures, without credible motivations or depth. "I always take a narration from the makers to understand their intent," explains Pratik. "While I do read the script, often things get lost in translation." Anup says that it doesn't matter if a character seems jingoistic, provided he has reasons to be so. "I don't have any problem playing one. If you look at characters essayed by both Pratik and Sunny, they are just two sides of the same coin. There is no right or wrong. It doesn't matter if the jingoism is from one side or another, till it has a reason to be there." Sunny adds, "It all boils down to what the makers want to say. If things are being done only for an agenda, it is a futile exercise." Anup agrees and adds that the viewer is smart enough to not fall for propaganda. "There are so many examples where audiences have rejected a story because it felt one-sided," he says.

But with blind nationalism often being soft-sold through cinema, we wonder where that leaves space for patriotism. What do actors feel about it? "I think it is an internal feeling, it has no parameters, it can't be measured," says Pratik, adding, "It is a sense of ownership, of belongingness to a land, to a nation and its people."



Actors Pratik Gandhi, Sunny Hinduja, and Anup Soni discuss their upcoming thriller series, Saare Jahan Se Accha, spy films, choosing roles, and navigating jingoism in espionage thrillers
